whether to attend college or not...

and how to manage our time...

how to embrace the world...
The world is filled with hate and violence. Schools have metal detectors because kids choose to carry guns and knives to class. Students are faced with thousands of life-altering choices every day of their lives. The students pictured above are choosing a peaceful approach to life amid all of the world's chaos; the students are eating pizza at a fifth quarter party, sponsored by the booster club, after the evening's football game instead of going out and making trouble. Their choices have begun. Photo by Kristin McCauley.

Life is full of important choices. Throughout students’ high school years, they are bombarded with a kaleidoscope of decisions to make.

Sarah Worksrealhard is an intellectual and a very outgoing high school student who likes to volunteer. Sarah makes straight A’s and studies every night, earning her a place on the National Honor Society. Todd Sportsaholic is the biggest sports fan at his high school. He loves to spend time with his friends and shoot baskets on the weekend. Todd is a class officer who is one of the most popular kids at school.
Bill Lifestafarm has lived on a farm his entire life, so he loves agriculture. Bill spends most of his time outdoors either farming or hunting. Bill even has his own business.

One person’s choices aren’t necessarily better than another’s; they are just different choices. A person’s choices are just as unique as each person’s personality. Sarah, Todd, Jenny, and Bill, like all students, will be faced with many important choices that will determine the next four years and the rest of their lives.
The administration works all year long to organize and prioritize what the school does. From final schedules to sports schedules, from field trips to finances, Cheryl Rasmussen and Jan Collins do it all.

The school is busy handling the political and controversial issues that arise during the school year. The board must approve many of the administrations actions making them the true top dogs at this school.

Jan Collins ends his 12 year career as superintendent in June.

Principal Cheryl Rasmussen uses her famous daily planner to organize upcoming events.

Mary Lou Colley has chosen to be part of education for 43 years. She began her journey in a one-room schoolhouse. She moved on, however, and taught fourth grade at the Highland Elementary School. Then, she changed schools again and taught at Zimmerman, District 20, near Troy, Kansas. Eventually, Colley found her way back to Highland and began departmentalized teaching of seventh and eighth grade. For the last fifteen years of Colley’s career, she has served as the K-12 librarian of Highland Schools.

Colley is truly a ray of light to all students and a genuine believer in academics. May 2000 Colley chose to end her long journey as an educator. Because of Colley’s years of commitment to students’ academic careers, the journalism staff would like to dedicate this yearbook to her as a way to say thank you for all of her hard work.

Occupying over 38% of all the total classes offered, the humanities students became well acquainted with reading and writing. Every year, the teachers must adjust their lesson plans for the everchanging world.

"I placed a greater emphasis on higher level thinking skills," said History, Constitution, and sophomore English teacher Donna Parish.

Ron Shelton, geography teacher, said, "I taught current events and current world problems more than in past years."

Spanish teacher Toni Larson said, "I taught my classes the same, but I had a Spanish IV class in addition to my other classes."

"I placed a greater emphasis on literature and authors’ styles and less emphasis on grammar," said freshmen English teacher Joy Meyer.

"I used a lot of the same material, but I approached it in different ways every year," said English teacher Esther Gormley. "For the junior class, I emphasized persuasive writing. I also covered different reading material for the seniors."

Home Economics is also known as what?
Students who took home economics, woods, and agriculture learned how to solve every day problems faced throughout life.

The family consumer science classes, a.k.a. home economics, kept busy learning about life skills that will come in handy after high school is over. During the first semester, students learned about nutrition and cooking. Students concentrated on sewing projects such as pajamas, patchwork quilts, and projects of their choice for the majority of the second semester. The newest project was a doll house that will be raffled off when it is complete.

Laura Schmitz said, "The students are learning skills that are becoming a lost art in today’s society. Hopefully, they will pass these skills on to their children."

"In the shop, students worked on about any [woods project] they wanted, needed, and could afford," said Alan Terry, woods instructor.

The classes taught students to do simple math, recognize quality, and use problem solving skills.

Welding, greenhouse projects, and contests were the projects of agriculture classes. Career development events (CDEs) taught students about careers and choices for the future.

Elmer Schmitz, instructor of agriculture, said, "The students learned important workplace skills and considered future careers."

When it comes to the math, science and technology classes, any break from the books is welcome to students. Faculty Justin Smith, Kertis Keehn and Jill Evans provided the opportunity to experience a variety of labs starting freshman year. Look for these hands-on projects in the captions of each picture.

Nick Cluck, junior and taxidermy entrepreneur, said, "[By being in natural resources], I get to learn about the way animals interact with the environment."

The art department has earned various awards at many contests. Said, art teacher Linda Joseph, "This is not easy considering the size of the school and the limited resources these gifted students have to deal with."

“We make do with what we have,” said John Jenkins, junior. Jenkins has clearly made do. He won many awards this year including an award for his piece Summer Colors, at the Albrecht-Kemper Museum of Art in St. Joseph, Missouri. “It was a great honor,” said Joseph.

Jon Edie was the other big art winner, even a books and tuition scholarship to Highland Community College.

“Each student in the art department doesn’t just work with one medium; they are trained in many mediums, such as drawing, pottery and ceramics,” said Treka Moehle, junior.

What song did the Streaks march to?

2000 Choices
Choir chooses to sing in rhyme, Band chooses to step in time.

“We’re gonna rock this town, rock it inside out,” a phrase from Brian Setzer’s “Rock this Town” is a perfect description for the music enveloping the band room.

The band stepped and strutted to the rhythm during the Halloween parade on Oct. 28. Later, the pep band rocked the stands and the gym during football and basketball games.

“I was very proud of the band. I feel that they performed at their potential,” said band and choir teacher Yvette Cook.

Many students chose to show their musical talents by taking solos to the Regional and DVL Music Festivals.

“I was also very proud of the choir. During the musical, they worked very hard. I’m glad that they kept up with that level for the entire year,” said Cook.

he season can be summed up in three short words, injury! Injury! INJURY! The Streaks dropped like flies this year, but they never gave up. They ended the season with a 1-7 record, winning their last game at home against the Wathena Wildcats. Dustin Geiger, senior, said, “As a senior captain, I was very proud of the freshmen and sophomores that stepped up to play at the varsity level. We had a difficult year, losing major players to injury throughout the year, but we kept our enthusiasm all year and never gave up.”

Seniors this year were Geiger, Eric Tracy, (captains), Ryan Nolte, Matt Reiter, and Zach Powell. “They provided good leadership,” said Cody Peters, freshman. “They were the team’s heart.”

Receiving honors in the Delaware Valley League were Tracy, first team DVL defensive end, and Geiger and Daren Stewart, honorable mention linebackers.

Even though the road wasn’t exactly paved for the Bluestreaks, they chose to fight. Tracy said, “I was very proud of our team. We had a rough season and a lot of injuries, but we had a lot of people step up to the next level. I believe that, even though our record didn’t show it, we really did succeed because we really did play as a team. We developed great characteristics that will carry the younger boys to victory in the future.”

he volleyball team chose to work hard and play even harder to continue their streak (pun intended) of consecutive winning seasons, now at a remarkable ten. The Bluestreaks also continued their impressive personal achievements. Senior Cate Batchelder and juniors Jana Collins, Julianne Blevins, and Jill Merkel were all placed on the All-County Team. Batchelder and Collins went on to be named to both the All-DVL Team and to the All-Tournament team at Atchison.

In the Highland Invitational Tournament, the Streaks defeated Midway, JCN, and Royal Valley before falling to B&B, Centralia, and Hiawatha. The Streaks finished fourth overall.

The Streaks also played in triangle meets at Troy, McLouth, Oskaloosa, JCN, Jackson Heights, and Highland. The team played a four team meet at Atchison.

The Bluestreaks excelled at the Atchison Tournament, losing only to Pleasant Ridge. The Streaks defeated Wathena, Hogan, Savanna, and Atchison. The Streaks finished second overall.

The McLouth Tournament was the DVL meet, and it also determined the placings for regionals. The Streaks played and defeated Troy, JCN, Horton, and Wathena, but lost to Pleasant Ridge. During the championship round, the Streaks again lost to Pleasant Ridge.

At the Regional tournament at Centralia, the Streaks fought hard, but did not make it to Sub-State. After losing the first match to the Axtel Eagles, the Streaks rallied to defeat Axtel in the next two games. The Streaks then won the chance to play the undefeated Centralia Panthers. Despite putting up a good fight, the Streaks were defeated by Centralia.

I enjoyed playing with the group. We had an overall fun season. Even though we did not win DVL, everyone worked hard. Megan Blevins, team co-captain.

The women's cross country team was running great going into the State competition at Wamego on Oct. 30. The team took first place in the DVL meet held at Rim Rock; the team also took first place at the Regional meet held at Washington to earn their spot in the State cross country competition.

Lynn Windmeyer, senior said, "Regionals was the most exciting meet of the year. After we were through running, we thought that we didn't place in the top three and therefore were ineligible to go to State. When we were walking back over the hill to the bus, we found out that we placed first; we all screamed and everyone around was looking at us like we were crazy."

The ladies earned sixth place at the State meet held in Wamego, led by senior, Tessa Reist, and sophomore, Callee Simpson.

The leader of the mens' team was Noah Diveley. He has been a member of the cross country team for all four years of his high school career.

He had many strong and consistent times this year; his best being the 19:10 time at the Troy meet. Diveley said, "I thought the year went well, and the Highland team did well."

Reist, Simpson, and Erinn Groeltz earned 1st team spots on the All-County team; Windmeyer and Amber Diveley earned 2nd team spots. Reist and Simpson earned first team spots while Groeltz earned a second team spot on the All-DVL team. Noah Diveley earned a spot on the All-County team.

"I was very happy that the girls won both the DVL and Regional competition. They earned their spot at State by working hard in practice every day. The boys’ team also worked hard, even though they didn’t have a full team to work with."

syching up a crowd of adoring fans is not always easy for the peppy team of cheerleaders. The spirit squad has done its best in both football and basketball to keep hopes high and raise voices above the rest. The cheerleading squad took turns in leading each other, and has put in hard work and time improving the newcomers and practicing with the old. Deb Terry, sponsor, has been keeping her group going and learning to become a more spirited group.

The cheerleaders sponsored a Spirit Spreader for various squads from the area. Each team learned new cheers, stunts, and routines to improve their look and style.

“I had fun being with my new friends and working with the new girls,” said Ashley Webb, junior.

What is your favorite saying?

I enjoyed working with the junior high and high school cheerleaders. It was a new and exciting experience, said Deb Terry.
The girls' basketball team, which was coached by Brad Bingesser and Marla Olson, began with a quick start by winning their first three games by a considerable margin. The pace, however, quickly slowed after the ladies lost four straight. "After Wathena, which was a pretty good game, we were emotionally drained. We didn't play (Troy) at the same level of emotion," said Bingesser, head coach.

The losses, especially to Troy and Midway, really set the team back emotionally. "We just didn't meet our potential or our goals," said Callee Simpson, sophomore.

The team improved their fundamentals and defensive ability throughout the season even though their final season's record was 8-12. "I met my personal goal by keeping up the fundamentals I know best, while improving my weaknesses," said Lynn Windmeyer, senior.

Although the game against McLouth was followed by a string of defeats, the game was executed very well. "Our best game of the season was at McLouth. We worked as a team and accomplished what we needed even though we didn't gain a victory," said Jana Collins, junior.

The leading scorers for the season were Jana Collins with 162 points, Megan Blevins with 108 points, Callee Simpson with 53 points, and Juli Blevins with 52 points.

Rebounds were led by Megan Blevins and Jana Collins with 79 and 73 rebounds respectively.

Callee Simpson led the assist column with 60. Megan Blevins had 39 assists while Lynn Windmeyer fell slightly behind with 27.

Jana Collins was chosen for First Team Doniphan County and First Team Delaware Valley League by the coaches. Megan Blevins was invited to play in the Northeast Kansas all-star game.

Competition and determination gave us an overall understanding of what it takes to win a varsity game. We were young enough this year that we learned how to win; next year we should expect it,” said
Coach Ron Shelton.

Although the boys had a few struggles along the way, the team will take away skills and teamwork. “We played a lot of tough teams close and should have won a lot more games than we did. We played to the level of our competition a lot of times instead of playing at our level,” said Daren Stewart, sophomore.

Chad Simpson, junior, earned a place on the All-DVL First Team as well as the All-County First Team.
Daren Stewart and Deven Yurth, sophomores, were chosen to be on the All-County Second Team.

“I’m proud to have been chosen. If it wasn’t for the team, I wouldn’t have accomplished it,” Simpson stated.

Zach Powell, senior, placed third in the annual free-throw contest at the Delaware Valley League (DVL) Tournament in Atchison. “I was pleased that I placed so well and represented our team,” Powell commented.

Noah Diveley, senior, stated, “We had a lot of close games we should have won throughout the season, but, you can’t win them all.”

Dustin Geiger, senior, earned a place on NEK All Star Team and participated establishing new school records occupied the girls' track season. Tessa Reist, senior, in the 800m set the record at 2:30.9. Jana Collins, junior, and Reist tied in the 400m at 60.0 for a new record. Callee Simpson, sophomore, in the 3200m ran at 12:51. Reist, Simpson, Erinn Groeltz, junior, and Christina Dickerson, sophomore, set 10.59 as the new record in the 4 x 800m relay. Collins tied the old school record of 12.6 in the 100m and 26.1 in the 200m.

A season of improvement for the girls' track team has pleased Coach Angie Eberly. "All returning lettermen have improved their best times from last year and have improved their times since then," said Coach Eberly.

'Eberly is the head coach for the girls and the distance runners, while Coach Justin Smith is the head coach for the boys and the sprinters. "I like the arrangement we have because I enjoy working with the sprinters. In working with the boys, I was especially impressed with the improvements the young kids made, as well as their attitudes," said Coach Smith.

Although the team was short on numbers, the ones who participated led the team to high placings at many meets. "We placed high in a lot of big meets where you don't have to have numbers to win. We didn't have the numbers, but we had key runners who were winning to lead us to the high placing," said Coach Eberly.

"Our girls did a very good job with the small number; everyone did her best," said Collins.

Collins was undefeated in the regular season in the 200m dash and went on to compete at State. "I didn't even know that I had been undefeated until Coach Eberly told me a week before Regionals. I just think about doing my best and improving my times before I run," said Collins.

Along with Collins, Senior Tessa Reist and Sophomore Callee Simpson went on to State.

Life is full of important choices. Throughout students’ high school years, they are bombarded with a kaleidoscope of decisions to make.

Sarah Worksrealhard loves to show her brilliance through her participation in quiz bowl. She plays on school-sponsored club. Instead, she is part of the varsity squad every year and is the team’s all-time high scorer. Todd Sportsaholic is so busy with sports that he participates in very few clubs. He does, how-ever, choose to be part of NHS, which is less de-manding than other clubs.

Jenny Leavesatthreeeten does not participate in any through her participation in quiz bowl. She plays on school-sponsored club. Instead, she is part of a computer club she enjoys with her friends. Bill Lovestofarm is the FFA President. He goes to National Convention, State Convention, and participates in every FFA contest he can.

What is the grade point average needed through the whole year for NHS?
Quiz Bowl and National Honor Society member have chosen to use knowledge to become better than the rest. NHS was proud to welcome their three newcomers: Christina Dickerson, Crystal Harness as the new sophomores, and Mike Jones as the new junior. The new members have worked hard to become part of an enriched group of students. With the installation on Nov. 16, the students are required to maintain a 3.0 G.P.A. through the whole year.

The Quiz Bowl team earned fame when they qualified to be on the High Q and ended with first in the IA district division. The Quiz Bowl has succeeded in many other contest with firsts at Sabetha, Horton, Midway, Highland Community College, and third at Royal Valley and Highland invitational. High Q gave a different range of background for the Quiz Bowl team. “It was an awesome experience being on TV, but the questions were harder than the usual contests,” said Andrew Gilfillan, junior.

2.) What presidents are buried at Arlington cemetery?

Two choices worth thinking about

Journalism and Stuco are two organizations that students often choose. The student council consists of 19 students (a president, president elect, secretary, treasurer, two representatives from each class, and a representative from each club and department). This group hosts many of the dances and makes recommendations on the student activity budget. This includes funds for class activities, prom, and senior trip.

Journalism is an elective offered to juniors and seniors. Journalism fought a technology battle this year. Trying to learn about digital photography and the benefits and consequences of the scanner, using the Internet to enhance the appearance and accuracy of the school newspaper, and changing the yearbook software to Yeartech has been a real challenge. “I think we are starting to win the ‘techno-war’ that a lot of schools are fighting,” said Amanda Williams, second year student and yearbook editor.

Journalists won many awards at the Regional and State level. From the State level were Cate Batchelder, who won first in newspaper design and honorable mention in yearbook design. Batchelder also won honorable mention in journalist of the year, which ranks her as one of the top six journalists in the State. Kristin McCauley placed third in both newspaper photography and feature writing, and Julianne Blevins and Lynn Windmeyer came home with one honorable mention in feature writing and photography respectively.

FFA FOREVER!

Numbering 53 students and comprising 64% of the total student body, the FFA has the largest membership of any club at Highland.

Nine FFA’ers traveled to Louisville, KY for the FFA National Convention. In previous years the convention had been held in Kansas City. The qualifications for attending the FFA convention are either being an FFA officer or a senior completing his or her State FFA degree.

Eight students earned their State FFA degrees. This number is the highest in the Northeast Kansas District.

Sophomores Brooks Rawles, Bryan Rhodd, Chris Mooney, Lucas Keebler, Daren Stewart, and Callee Simpson all finished their Chapter FFA degrees.

Junior Nick Cluck won the Northeast District Wildlife Management Proficiency Award.

The FFA chapter received a 2 Star Award at the National Level. At State FFA, the Ag communications team placed 9th, while Stacy Neibling placed 5th in broadcasting and Batchelder placed 6th in news writing.

During the Heartland Fall Classic, the FFA excelled. In the Horse Judging contest, the A Team placed 2nd while Shannon Davis placed 5th. In the Nursery/Landscape Contest, the A Team placed 3rd, while Becky Cole (7th) and Cate Batchelder (9th) placed individually. The B Team, consisting of Amy Keller (5th), Kyle Olson (7th), and Jill Merkel (8th) placed 2nd.

Both teams placed first in the Entomology contest. On the A Team, Ryan Nolte (1st) Dustin Geiger (2nd), and Noah Diveley (5th) placed, while Brandon Geiger (1st), Aaron Dillman (4th), and Chad Simpson (5th) placed on the B Team.

The annual Swing Choir Tour requires hard work and commitment from this elite group of singers. The trip also requires money, which means it needs its own budget just like any other student activity. The tour also uses complicated technology, so that's where the techies, Aaron Twombly, junior, and Lynn Windmeyer, senior, provide assistance.

On the tour the Swing Choir stopped at six schools including the Hiawatha Grade School, Everest, Midway, and Highland. The Swing Choir also stopped at a dinner theater. "The dinner theater was cool, but the best part was when Michael Stonebarger asked for ketchup," said Freshman Brian Reiter.

Life is full of important choices. Throughout students' high school years, they are bombarded with a kaleidoscope of decisions to make.

Sarah Worksrealhard’s diligent work pays off at the end of the year. At awards night, the principal announces that she is Valedictorian of her class. She also receives various scholarships. Despite her hard work, Jenny Leavesatthreeten doesn’t like to act, but she loves the technical aspects of theater. Because of her love, Jenny is the backstage manager for the musical. Bill Lovestofarm enjoys attending the FFA Barnwarming. Jenny let her hair down during Senior Sneak. Todd Sportsaholic is Homecoming King. He is also the life of the party at the Jr./Sr. Prom. Every year he is auctioned off for the most money at the event’s work sale.
The night of Homecoming brings fans and friends to support the Streaks and Homecoming candidates

During halftime of the football game against the Valley Falls Dragons, Tessa Reist and Dustin Geiger were crowned Homecoming Queen and King.

Candidates slowly walked onto the field while "Black Balloon" by the Goo Goo Dolls played in the background.

Geiger said, "Having fellow students and classmates vote for me as Homecoming King was a great honor. I was very excited."

The dance following the game was well attended by those who enjoyed the music. Tracy Waller Entertainment provided the tunes.

We're Off to See the Wizard
The Wonderful Wizard of Oz

The choices made by the director, Yvette Cook, and the cast began before the first day of school. What musical will be produced? Who will get the lead roles? The decisions were made. Rehearsals began. After hours of personal time had been put into The Wizard of Oz, the final production finally came.

The Wizard of Oz was unique because the cast consisted of a wide range of people. The musical cast included high school choir members, 5th and 6th graders from Highland Elementary School, and Jan Collins, superintendent.

Cook, director, said, “I have always wanted to do a show that included the administration, and Jan Collins fit the part well. The elementary students were also fun to work with because they kept their enthusiasm throughout the performance.”

Junior Jana Collins, Dorothy Gale, held the lead assisted by Brooks Rawles as the Scarecrow, Aaron Dillman as the Tin Man, and Mike Jones as the Cowardly Lion.

Senior Lynn Windmeyer, the Wicked Witch of the West; junior Kyle Olson, the head guard at the Emerald City; and freshman Brett Neibling, the Wizard of Oz were also strong supporting roles.

Vanetta Geiger made Dorothy’s blue and white checked dress and Glenda’s elaborate dress and crown.

Aaron Twombly, backstage manager, put hours of his own time into the set and props.

Most Memorable Moments

“I liked it when the winkies surprised Mrs. Cook in the first performance by doing a chorus line kick during their song.” - Aaron Dillman

Sweetheart candidates opt to step out of comfort zone giving the crowd something to laugh about instead of standing behind the scenes.

With little reservation and even less common sense, six Sweetheart candidates plunged into Barnwarming chores. The planning committee did their best to ensure a hilarious show at the expense of these ladies' embarrassment. Jill Merkel, junior, came away with the crown due to her enthusiasm during the hay bale throw competition, her fast time in the obstacle course and her ability to answer trick questions such as, “If you put a steer and a heifer together in a pen, how long will it take the heifer to breed?” Merkel answered, “A steer is not endowed.”

The theme song for the ceremony was "I Want to Love You Forever" by Jessica Simpson.

On Feb. 4, 2000 the gym stands was full of people young and old for the crowning ceremony at half time.

The 2000 king was Ryan Nolte; he escorted the new queen, Megan Blevins. The crowd showed their excitement with cheers and clapping.

Crownbearer Sam Schwegler and flower girl Ashlie Witham walked up to present the flower and crown to the royalty.

Nolte said, "I was nervous; I was thinking about what to do through the whole ceremony. I was afraid of messing up and looking stupid."

What were the seniors most memorable moments on Sneak? Megan Blevins said, "When Eric stuck a pair of his sexy underwear in my cooler."

Eric Tracy said, "When Dustin, Noah and I cornered Mr. Keehn by the pool and threw him in after he had just taken a shower. I have never seen him so red or mad."

Holly Gray said, "My most memorable moment would be between the day the boys were wearing Lynn's swim suit and the night Stacy and Megan got busted for dancing on the coffee table."

For three days and two nights, the junior through freshmen, along with sponsors, experienced many challenges aimed at overcoming problems through the use of physical and mental means. Andrew Gilfillan, junior, said, "My robot actually took over a small state, but it got shot down."

By night, however, a large number of the students dabbled in a bit too much fun that was later punished back home.

"A Midsummer Night’s Dream" was the theme for the 2000 Junior/Senior Prom. The medieval theme was enhanced by a castle, pillars, trellises, and grape vineyard. The night began with the traditional "parade" into the high school, followed by pictures, and chicken kiev by candlelight.

Juniors, seniors, and their dates danced the night away to the tunes of Complete Music. Grape slush punch and cookies were enjoyed throughout the dance.

After Prom consisted of ice skating at Bode Ice Arena in Saint Joseph, MO. “I liked after Prom better than bowling. It was something different from years past,” said Ashley Webb, junior. Students were able to ice skate, play broom ball, participate in casino games, and receive prizes collected by parents.

Prizes included cash, Royals tickets, gift certificates, and other small prizes. “I walked around all night spotlighting everyone with my Highland Community College flashlight that I won at After Prom,” said Amanda Williams, senior. Everyone who attended Prom was able to take home memories that will last a lifetime.

Many choices led to Awards, Graduation

"Tis easy to be pleasant when life flows along like a song, but the one worthwhile is the one who will smile when everything goes dead wrong."

Awards Night and Graduation were two things that the seniors saw approaching after their last day on May 18.

Awards Night was held to show the students that their hard work paid off. Many students earned awards for scholarships, departments, academics, and other school activities.

On Sunday, May 21, the class of the new "Millennium" received their diplomas. The seniors shed many tears as they approached a new stage of their lives.

The Bluestreak is a 92-page work produced using Jostens YearTech, Adobe Photoshop 5.0, Adobe PageMaker 5.0, Print Shop Ensemble III, Microsoft Word, and Microsoft Excel. Many creative choices went into the production of this yearbook. The copy was chosen to be in 12-point Palatino, and the captions were chosen to be in 8-point Palatino. The division pages were done in Times New Roman in various sizes. The headlines vary in size and font.

The staff would like to especially thank Aaron Twombly for his technical support throughout the production of The Bluestreak. The staff also wants to thank Donna Parish for her dedication and assistance during production.

Life is full of important choices. Throughout students' high school years, they are bombarded with a kaleidoscope of decisions to make.

Sarah Worksrealhard has dedicated her entire high school career to academics. Her decision has earned her a full ride to Harvard University. Todd Sportsaholic's choice to better his sporting abilities has earned him a spot in the National Football League and National Basketball Association. Bill Lovestofarm has chosen to dedicate his life to farming. He now owns a large-scale ranch in Texas and operates a taxidermy business in his free time.

Choices aren't always easy to make, but they must be made in order to succeed in life. Sarah, Todd, Jenny, and Bill have all made different, but healthy choices. Choices effect every aspect of people's lives. The question is...will people make good or bad decisions? The choice is yours!
