How was your first year teaching at Highland High School?

I have enjoyed being a part of the USD 425 faculty, the students have been great, and I can’t wait for the many more years to come!

The Senior class of 2003 began their Highland school days in the Kindergarten trailer outside of the grade school building. The class was split into morning and afternoon. Some of our favorite things to do were the “stations”, especially playing house. Everyday, Mrs. Davis would begin the day with the flag salute. Justin felt a bit sick and while we were saying the Pledge of Allegiance, he vomited all over the classroom. This was just the beginning of our classes puking problems. Kindergarten was the best class for most of us because of naptime and snack time. In first grade, we moved on to Ms. Lambert’s classroom and gained a new classmate, Erin French. The boys still had cooties at this time, but some new crushes were developing, such as when Matt put a frog down Heather’s shirt. While Ms. Lambert was instructing the class on how to make Indian bread, she dropped all of the dough on the floor. In second grade, Mrs. Jeffers was our teacher and Brian Reiter joined our class. We had a few problems with people stealing things so a few of the girls decided to be detectives and get to the bottom of the misbehaving. We would glue pencils to the outside of pencil boxes and wait for the thief (who we never caught). One day during recess Kristan somehow got herself stuck in the mud. No one could get her out so we had to get Mrs. Jeffers and she had to pull her out leaving her boots in the mud. In third grade, Waylon Lippold joined our class. Waylon had a slight accident on the alligator pit and cracked his head open at recess one day. That night the girls had a birthday party at Heather’s and teased Caicycle about her crush on Waylon. Caicycle got so upset she packed her bag and walked to the end of the sidewalk, then realized she couldn’t cross the street without someone holding her hand. Also in 3rd grade we were old enough to ride the “BIG” teeter-totters on the playground. Heather knows what it’s like to fly from the top of them. In fourth grade Mrs. Merkel was our teacher. She had many fun ways to learn and even made up a song to teach us about photosynthesis. Also Michael and Ricky Denow 2 weeks so they began planning their everyone in our class to be in the people shooting ketchup at them. grade so they never got to get margained our friends Chris Sullivan were trying to be detectives again Writers Club after the popular TV love note mysteries. Our class also school librarian Mrs. Colley and book festival. It was about a 4 hour were sitting three to a seat. Eric and puked numerous times on the over the bus floor and began splash- soon traveled towards the front of gagging. Caicycle smelled the puke herself and a little on her seat bud- Needless to say it was great to fi- grade, the vomiting problems contin- uing taco salad, the boys had a get the most bowls of salsa. Well, Chris ate a little too much and came back into the computer lab and puked all over the floor. In 6th grade Mrs. Marsha Twombly took us on our field trip to Exchange City. In Seventh grade, our teacher was Mrs. Whitacre. She always had fun sayings such as “slow boat to China”, “Chillens”, “there’s something rotten in Denmark”, and “there’s more than one way to skin a cat.” Also in 7th grade, Eric Purvis left and Andrea Popejoy joined. Eric and Janice dated for a short period of time and were once caught by Cody playing footsie under the table. In eighth grade some unhappy 7th graders formed the “I hate Kristan and Kim fan club,” and had monthly meetings at the lunch tables. We also took a class trip to Worlds of Fun and had a great time playing truth or dare on the way home. 8th grade graduation was a great celebration to end the year. Freshman year was a difficult year for our class, starting off with Extravaganza. Our class was involved with the big extravaganza. Brandon, Eric, Justin and Cody invited a dog to spend the week in their hotel room with them. Everyone was out of their rooms past curfew and had fun hanging out in different rooms. Sophomore year, we had our first Homecoming parade and class float. The theme was “Smoke the Cobras” so we thought we should put a little smoke on our float but ended up being disqualified in the process. Brett, after suffering a slight concussion from a football, game got lost in the school library. Brandon got his famous nickname “Dozer” when he dozed off while driving to football practice at 5:30 a.m. and crashed into a ditch; he wasn’t even late for practice. Junior year, Paige Oglesby joined our class. The parking lot became a bit dangerous when Caicycle and Brandon hit and Mike backed into Heather. Kristan also scraped her green car by running into the pole by the parking lot. On the way home from an FFA, trip Justin and Lucas Keesler somehow convinced Brandon to moon a car. Mr. Schmitz found out and he had to do a little community service. Senior year, we have seemed to grow up because we haven’t been in trouble nearly as much. Michael had a slight accident in Ag and ended up catching his pants on fire. We somehow made it through the difficult task of Senior Project. Janice and Michael left our class halfway through the year. Erin had a horrible car wreck and ended up breaking a leg and crushing an ankle; we had to mourn the loss of Erin’s car Suzie. She was out of school for a few weeks and everyone visited her at the hospital and when she came home. We all enjoyed taking turns racing Erin in her wheelchair. We went on Senior Sneak to Galveston after Senior Project was over. One of the most fond memories was Justin, Brandon, Eric, Cody, and Brett surprising the girls at the pool by wearing 70’s ultra short swimming trunks. Fun games like tag, Marco Polo, and throwing Mr. Beck’s footballs at each other were played. Justin, Eric, and Brandon also wore overalls, pearl snap shirts and their aviator sunglasses when the class went deep-sea fishing. Congratulations Seniors!

Cheerleading...more than just Friday night games. The H.H.S. cheerleaders started their "season" early in the summer by performing a routine at the annual Cancer Walk. Next, the cheerleaders headed off to Kansas City to perform at the Chiefs halftime show. Thanks to the cheerleaders and the newly formed Pep Club, school spirit has dramatically increased.

What's your point?

What was your FAVORITE part of cheerleading this year?

"It has been fun to watch the cheerleaders grow together as a squad. I enjoy their humor and was impressed by their hard work and dedication."

Coach Kelly Twombly

"In the past, we have not had the opportunity to attend camp or do fundraisers in order to pay for various items, but this has all changed. I enjoyed working hard the entire summer. We attended camp for the first time, and were able to participate in fundraisers that helped bring our squad together."

Coaches Happy with Improvement

I thought we improved on every aspect of the game by the end of the season. I couldn’t have asked for a harder working group of girls at practice as well as in games. My most memorable game was at the Elwood tourney when we beat Midway to get into the Championship. - Jason Grider

Galveston, TX

The Seniors this year enjoyed a fine trip to Texas, where they visited NASA, Six Flags, Joe’s Crab Shack, and the sandy beaches of Galveston.

Mr. Beck enjoyed nursing an injury after a spectacular football catch on the beach.

A Night in New Orleans

After four long days, four rolls of paper and a truck load of tape, the Junior Class was able to complete their decorative theme. The Seniors were impressed with the simple elegance of the design.

For After-Prom, the Juniors and Seniors were bussed to the St. Joseph YWCA, for swimming and games.

Academically Oriented Groups Highly Successful for the Year

The National Honor Society performed their annual induction ceremony January 13, 2003. Eight new members were inducted this year; three juniors and five sophomores. The NHS also met several times to discuss future plans to perform community service projects. It is a goal of this esteemed organization to stay active in the community.

The Quiz Bowl this year had meets at: Highland, Wathena, Midway, Horton, HCC, and Washburn University in Topeka (Hi-Q). The team placed ninth at HCC, third at Highland, and fifth of all 1A schools at Hi-Q. Although the team never won a meet, each member competed well in their specific areas of expertise to form a strong and successful team.

A night at the farm!

Barnwarming festivities kicked off with a community and FFA members meal. After the meal, everyone headed out to the shop to begin the sweetheart festivities. Following the candidates speeches, the chores began. The chores were: the haybale throw, questions and answers, and early morning chores. While the judges picked a winner, the members were auctioned off for the worksale. The judges returned with a winner. Angie Stewart was crowned Barnwarming Queen and Meghan Simmons was runner up.

A Celebration

A less familiar musical turned out to be big fun in a small barrel. With festive parades, magic tricks, and some very colorful clowns, Ms. Cook, cast and crew gave it their all to deliver a quality performance.

2003

Rockin' Through

the Ages

This year's Swing Choir worked really hard throughout the entire year. Their work not only paid off when they went on tour, but it also paid off at Regionals and State. The Girls' Ensemble earned a I at League which allowed them to qualify at Regionals where they also scored a I. At State the girls received a I. The Boys Ensemble received a I at Regionals and a II at State. Not only did the group as a whole shine, but so did the soloists. Chelsey Fritch received a I at League, Regionals and State. Alana Beck, Paige Smith, and Caley Dorrell received II's at Regionals.

GREAT IDEAS IN CONTACT LENSES••

Ortho-K Lenses
Wear them while sleeping then see without lenses all day. Great for athletes. Find out if you qualify.

Dailies®
Wear them a day then throw them away.
Never clean lenses again! Healthiest and handiest way to wear contacts.
