Senior History
Looking Back at the Chaos

WOW! We can't believe 13 years have passed so quickly. We can still remember the first day of Kindergarten. Travis and Steven lying on the floor kicking and screaming for their mommies to take them home. This home sickness quickly passed when they realized how much fun school was going to be. Our favorite activity in Kindergarten was playing at the stations. The boys' favorite was the building blocks and the girls' was playing in the kitchen. Who knew 13 years later that would be the #1 thing we'd want to do? Our first field trip was to the Kansas City Zoo. This is one experience Molly and Angie never want to relive. They got lost in the gorilla exhibit and a gorilla ran after them and started beating on the glass, so they ran outside bawling their heads off. Next was 1st grade. Tommy joined our class this year. What we looked forward to the most in first grade was taking home Buster the bear. This year Mrs. Martin showed us the movie Cartoon All-Stars, this quickly became our favorite movie ever. We also made warm fuzzies and cold pricklies. Second grade was a blast; we first started learning Spanish and we had our beach party this year. We thought we were so cool; the girls got to wear their swimsuits and the guys had their shirts off. This was the year we got our first class pet, a salamander named Rufus by Kyle Jeschke. Our acting careers started in 2nd grade with our Halloween plays. This was the year Thomas came and left. In third grade we got our 2nd class pet, a guinea pig, but we don't remember her name. Third grade was a very sad year for Emily; she got chicken pox right before her birthday, but she still had a party at Hot Stuff where she had the coolest cake ever, a huge purple troll. This was also the first year we were introduced to Grandpa Twombly; who made us a pencil holder with our names. Fourth grade went by really fast. We got our first taste of the real world by balancing our checkbooks; we also learned our photosynthesis song. In 5th grade, crushes started to form. Emily was head over heals in love with Steven but he didn't return the feelings, so she wrote him a note that said, "I hate you, to Barbie" instead of "I love you to Bearbie". We were not looking forward to 5th grade because we were deathly afraid of Mrs. Collins, but it turned out that we had no reason to be afraid. Sixth grade holds the most memories of grade school. We started doing awesome science experiments, like making a rotten egg, making a solution that ate through pennies. This was our first year that we had Mrs. Whitacre for a teacher. She taught us cute sayings like "slow boat to China, Honey Child, Chillin" but our favorite was "Albert come back to Earth". This year Angie became the class rebel. When Ms. Joseph changed Angie's pot, Angie named it Linda after Ms. Joseph and she got in a lot of trouble. Steven and Kyle became the class musicians with their Rainbow song. Seventh grade went by really fast, we had REB we know no one else here had REB and you're really lucky. This year Thomas came back. In 8th grade we had an unsolved mystery; we'll never know what Mr. Shelton said to the mean lady on the phone. This was also the year we watched the Miracle of Life video. Freshman year was the scariest thing in our lives. We were all scared to death to come to school because we had to walk across the commons in front of all the high school kids. This year we had Sex Ed; research for this class should never be looked up on the computer. This was one of the saddest and one of the happiest years in our life. Kyle Jeschke left, but Molly and Cody started dating. Sophomore year was awesome; we were all scared to death of Mrs. Parish; we heard she was the hardest teacher ever. It turned out we fell in love with her. Kenneth and Tomas, the exchange student, got in a wreck and Steven received his first B for sabotaging Hog's Power point. We took a field trip to Mr. Talley's house where Angie stole his underwear and put them on his desk the next day. Junior year was awesome. The funnest thing our class did was play an April fool's joke on Mrs. Parish by hiding Tommy in the closet and telling her that he wasn't at school. This year we made our float at Steven's where Tommy got shocked by a cattle prod but we forgot this when we won first place. We don't want to remember this part of junior year but I have to mention it, "Mr. Daub", okay that's all I have to say about that. This year our class had our annual campout at the Brown County Lake. Travis and Steven enjoyed making fire designs and Angie and Amber tried to cook on the grill, but failed miserably. This year Amber hit the famous pole, then tried to wipe off the paint at Tommy's house with gasoline. This year we had our big "Party at Parish's". Alana came junior year. Well, Senior Year, this year went faster than all the rest. At first, we were scared to death of senior project but it turned out to be great. We all passed! We went to Mrs. Gormley's and had a yummy dinner and the boys fell in love with boochie ball. This year Mrs. Parish finally had to put restrictions on our class by making strict digression laws. We also played our April fool's joke on Mrs. Parish, it was the best. We completely rearranged her room. We put a chair on top of her closet and took out a ceiling tile and laid it in the middle of the floor. When school was over, we went on senior trip, the scariest part of the trip was when Molly fell out of the raft and we had to rescue her. Molly, Angie, Steven, Aaron, Justin and Mr. Beck showed how brave they were by rip-cording across the Royal Gorge. We ended the trip with the HHS traditional dinner at Joe's Crab Shack where Emily and Travis had to run around the restaurant like chickens. The Senior Class would like to thank our friends, teachers, parents and community members for 13 amazing years.

The last track season for Highland had a good turn out of athletes. The girls this season have been very successful and the team was excited when they dominated at the Doniphan County meet taking first place. Several athletes broke school records for the last time competing for Highland High School.

"Your 2003 Homecoming King is Thomas Beaman and your Homecoming Queen is Angela Stewart." The week of Homecoming started off with a little school spirit followed by the football game against Union Star. A dance followed the game with a theme of "Fall Fever". The last Bluestreak Homecoming ended with a bang as the King smooched the Queen.

A Night of Chaotic Love

Your 2004 King and Queen of Courts were Tommy Moran and Molly Kinkead. Students showed their school spirit all week with various themes for each day. The pep rally on Friday was a tea party where the candidates got a chance to show their spirit. The pep rally was followed by a game against JCN Friday night. The week ended with a dance themed “Heart’s Desire.”

When its doors opened in 1897, Highland High School was created to serve only one small, rural community. The Highland High School of 2004 serves not only Highland, but also the communities of Sparks, White Cloud and surrounding areas.

Over the past half-century consolidation has been an issue with HHS, because even with the addition of the White Cloud and Sparks school districts, the school remained very small. As enrollment declined even more, state funding also has been slowly disappearing for many years as money goes in favor of large schools. This has meant talk of cutting programs and even teachers. But, of this the quality of academics has never wavered at Highland High School.

In its last year alone, HHS received the Kansas Challenge Award for math and reached the Standard on the floor of Excellence in math, science, social studies and reading.

The 2003-2004 school year was marked by many lasts for Highland High School, last football game, last cheerleading squad, last homecoming, last graduation. This yearbook was created to pay tribute to those many lasts and provide memories of a very eventful year, for decades to come. The pictures within these pages give a glimpse into the many activities and the student lives that played out during a year where everyone realized that change was imminent. It is fitting that the last pages of this yearbook be filled with Bluestreak images that will disappear forever and dedicated to the last year of operation for Highland High School and to the last ever HHS yearbook.

The 2004-2005 school year will be a new beginning for the Doniphan West Mustangs, and we must mark the end of an era as Highland High School closes its doors for the last time and we say goodbye to the Bluestreaks.
