"Considering the youth and inexperience of this year’s squad I thought we did well to have a winning season."
Coach Bruns

"With the lack of experience on the line I felt the team did an exceptional job learning quickly and improving for a winning season. Some of the younger people came on and did a good job and it helped with the senior leadership."
Coach Heinrich

Fantasy Island

On a warm evening in May the Sophomore Kayettes created a dreamland inside HHS for the Annual Kayette Tea. Guests were met at the door with leis and refreshing tropical drinks and entertained with musical talent and fashion creations. Emcees for the fantasy evening were Stacy Fitch and Khris Stahl.

Becci Cruse sings "Songbird." Many smart outfits are fashioned. Kelly provides a lighthearted tune.

A costumed Sophomore sextet sings. Judy Simmons entertains with the piano.

Pep Club . . .

This year's pep club worked hard to build up the morale of the football team. They decorated lockers and halls and served the players refreshments after practice. They were also responsible for the success of a great Football Homecoming.

During basketball season they cheered the Streaks to many victories and supported everyone's goal, State Championship!

NHS: A New Beginning

Highland High School acquired a new honorary society this year - the National Honor Society. Students are selected on a basis of grades, leadership, and character.

Since the Highland Chapter was just begun this year, Hiawatha NHS members attended and assisted at the initiation ceremony.

Hiawatha's NHS President initiates Highland's officers.

This year's Creative Writing Class decided to try school journalism and so the "Streak Speaks" was born. Seven issues of the paper were distributed with articles on music, sports, dramatics, and special interest stories. Also included were students surveys, want ads, dedications, and a Dear Gertrude column. But ... who's Gertrude?

Bill provides entertainment!

Nothin' like bein' comfortable!

Staff members discuss the next issue.
1981 Yearbook Staff

The 1981 Yearbook Staff was busy this year. The meetings were scheduled into the seldom found "free" evenings and weekends. But many of the staff members learned journalism techniques such as page design, copy writing, photography tips, and film and print developing.

Staff members examine newly developed film.

Bill shoots with the camera instead of the basketball.

Becky's working against.

Kaki, the picture goes this way!
Speech
And Drama

The 1981 Speech and Drama Squad had a short season, attending only three meets. They started out at Wathena at the League Festival in February. At this festival Gregg Buffington and Stacy Fitch received first place medals, and Stacy, Kathryn Jeffers, and Toni Sinker received third place medals.

The Regional Festival at Washburn University was the second contest HHS attended. Gregg Buffington and Stacy Fitch received first place certificates at this competition.

The State Festival was also at Washburn University. Toni Sinker received a third place certificate, and Stacy Fitch and Gregg Buffington received first place medals and certificates.

The Student Council is a model government organization within the high school. Highland High School's Student Council sponsored the 1981 Queen of Courts dance this year and arranged for Walton's Band to provide the entertainment. The Student Council is also responsible for the maintenance of the pop machine in the commons area.

Hi, Mom!

Freshmen

Welcome

Now that's a hot dog!

It's King Rob and his silly servant!

It's not as easy as it looks.

Just one last bite like that one, Johnny.

Initiation can be fun for everyone!
The first 13 days of the school year made "13" an unlucky number for the 24 freshmen of the 1981 school year. The 21½ weeks became long for the freshmen as well as the seniors. On September 5, Friday evening, you'd never have believed that latter statement! Both classes actually enjoyed themselves. Initiation night included eating onions, hot dogs, feeding chocolate-covered marshmallows, throwing shaving cream pies (you'll see Mr. McGee had a hand at it too) and fishing peanut-butter-covered bananas out of a bucket of water, which was portraying a common household utility. The night was topped off with Jim Plomey as disc jockey for the Initiation dance, helping the 9th graders feel included in ole Highland High.

1980
This year's Football Homecoming was a special one. The opponents for the evening were the Warthena Wildcats, and the Blue Streaks defeated these rivals 26-24. At halftime the traditional crowning ceremony took place, and the queen and her attendants viewed the game's second half from their spots in the stands. After the game was the Homecoming Dance at the high school. Michele Starr of KKJO fame was the guest DJ who helped HHS "Make a Little Magic."
"Swinging High"

Highland High School presented its fall musical on November 21 and 22, 1980. Entitled "Swinging High," the production was a comedy about a typical high school with a unique new principal who was against all sports and abolished them so that the students could concentrate on academics. High points of the evening included an explosion in the Science room and an unexpected appearance by the principal, or McDuff, in very "cool" attire.

The production was directed by Kelley Allen, and musical accompaniment was provided by the HHS Stage Band, directed by Linda Buffington.
Swinging High!

Is it about quitting time?

Lonesome?

Gotta get experience!

What's wrong with me?

Not tonight.

What a show!

Swinging High!

Mom warned me about this type.

Another turn-down.

Happy

On Friday, October 30, the Highland marching band performed on one of the nicest Halloweens we've had in recent history. In the afternoon they played in the Annual Highland Parade. And that evening they marched in the Annual Hiawatha Parade along with several other bands. Now, can you identify the "trashy" character?

The Thanksgiving assembly found us with the 3rd hour suburban family. The family's problems were common: high grocery bills (including a paper bag turkey) and wormy corn. Through their troubles they remembered to thank God for all they had. We also had the honor of listening to Mr. Wayne Davis as well as our Swing Choir.

Holidays:

At Christmas we again joined the 3rd class family and their version of the (Amy) and Rod (Kathryn) tell Becky (Joni) about the first Christmas. Later, Chris (Toni) got in a picture taken by the girls. Thrown away and gifts are exchanged, with place in reality at the end of the assembly.

Your Guests Are Ghosts

Highland High Presents: "Your Guests are Ghosts." Presented to the public on April 2 and 3, 1983 at 8:00 p.m. The play took place in an old retirement home for ghosts. But the county wanted to take the house for back taxes, and the ghosts fought to save the house. In the end, the ghosts saved the house and "lived" happily ever after.

Sweep that floor, Miss R. . . .
