THE PRINCIPAL SAYS:

We should all understand the purpose of education and the value of it. Then we should be willing to pay the price of it.

Education is the cornerstone of Democracy. It will give America unity, diversity, prosperity, strength and character. Thomas Huxley once said, "Perhaps the most valuable results of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not."

We must continue to increase the educational opportunities for our youth and endeavor to make our schools better if we hope to keep America strong.

Sincerely yours

Dedicated to you;
The anticipating freshman,
The confident sophomore,

At T. R. H. S. so the milestones
Of time will not dim the cherished

Once upon a time, twelve years in the past, a group of children six years old started their schooling in Troy Grade School. These children are now coming to the end of their school days at Troy, they are now known as the Class of 1957, Troy High School.

This group of twenty-one children that started away back when, were guided to the Troy Grade School by their parents, and then turned them over to Mrs. Godfrey, our first grade teacher. During the year, we learned to print words, to spell a, a, t, to keep our mouths shut, usually, and to add 2 and 2 to get 3.

By the time we had started in Mrs. Zimmerman's second grade, we had lost six of our group, now becoming a team, and another called a class. These six were Shirley Blanton, Georgia Cluck, Ronald Hanlan, Bernard Hatley, Barbara Jean Martin, and Nancy Mox. But in losing those six we gained three, so upon entering the second step, we had an enrollment of 18 with Doris Basculli, Dale Cluck, and Eddie Stephens as new members of our class. During this year, we learned that 2 + 2 was 4, and we could add 3, 3 + 3 to have more cats.

Grade three was the destination of our next stop. Between grade two and grade three, somewhere, we had lost two of our class, Bobby Howland, and Kathleen Overstreet. But we fooled them, we took in four more. These were Paul Benitz, Robert Brownlee, Shirley Roland, and Nola Sparks. Mrs. Baum taught our class of twenty to write during this year, and there were big things learned also. We learned that 4 and 4 were 8 and that little cats are kittens.

Our fourth year of school was taken under the guidance of Mrs. Horner. By this time, we had collected twenty-four students in our class. They were hard to get, though, as we lost four, to gain eight. The students we lost were Henry Brassfield, Dale Cluck, Shirley Roland, and Nola Sparks. The students we gained were Ronald Gardner, Connie Pollard, Evelyn Ruhnke, Barbara Stevens, Roger Studer, Gary Wehr, Darlene Zeltwanger, and Henry Ruhnke. Mrs. Horner taught us that it was easier to multiply than to add and we, not wanting to do any more than necessary, learned to multiply. We also improved our writing, (so she could read it.)

As we entered the fourth grade, the fifth grade was our next. Now we were big; we were members of the upper grades. Our class was smaller than the year before, down to twenty. We had lost five of our classmates: Evelyn Ruhnke, Eddie Stephens, Barbara Stevens, Roger Studer, and Gar Wheeler, but we also gained two: Stephen Higgins, and Mary Agnes Smith. During this year, we furthered our new found skills; learning to multiply larger numbers, and to divide, to spell China and to know that to get there, we went straight through the middle of the earth.

Our sixth grade year was a breeze. Mr. Robertson was our teacher and we really had a time. But Mr. Robertson was drafted and in came Mrs. Haupt. Then we worked. She even sacrificed our play periods for us. That year, we were up to twenty-four again. We gained Vydra Anslinger, Earnest Campbell, Sandra Glasscock, Ronald Grubb, Dean Horner, and Lambert Meng. This would have given us twenty-seven, but we were unlucky; we lost three. They were Stephen Higgins, Connie Pollard, and John Simpson.

The school year 1951-1952 saw us as seventh graders. Now we were almost out of grade school, we were almost on top of the heap. This was the year we went to Topeka with the eighth grade and went through the capitol. This was the year we lost two of our class. They were; Ronald Grubb, and Henry Ruhnke. But we ended up with twenty-three, because we gained Frank Grippando. Our teacher was Mrs. Hutcherson.

Big shots, that was us. We were on top of the heap; we were in the eighth grade. Leading us this year were two teachers; Mr. Moser, in the morning, and Mrs. Haupt, in the afternoon. The largest class of our history so far was this year. We had twenty-five. Fred Lewis, Gary Moppin, Kenneth Moppin, and Thelma Routon joined our ranks, while we lost Frank Grippando and Paul Benitz. Then suddenly, as the year drew to a close, we were sad at leaving our old school and just a bit anxious to know what the next step, high school, would be like. Finally, we were graduated, and were given our entrance slips for high school.

Back to the bottom of the heap. Lowly freshmen is what we were.

As we began, we, the Class of 1957 were brought together as a group for the first time. To our class were added eleven new members; Beverly Harness, Edna Hollars, Joy Juhl, Howard Keller, Marilyn Mooney, Rosa Lee Murphy, Jim Quick, Mary Lou Ruhnke, Leonard Sharp, John Simpson, and Elizabeth Ward. Between graduating from grade school and beginning high school, we lost Kenneth Moppin, Ruth Ann Roland, and Thelma Routon. Our class now totaled thirty-three.

As the first few weeks went by, we got to know and like each other and to stick together against those huge upperclassmen. We were initiated, nightgowns, lipstick, four-buckle overshoes, and all, and surprisingly enough, we all lived through it. The rest of our year was spent in hard study, getting acquainted, and admiring the seniors.

Our sophomore year finally came, and our class was now down to thirty-one. During our freshman year, we lost six classmates: Harold Blanton, Ronnie Gardner, Dean Horner, Lambert Meng, Howard Keller, and Gary Moppin. So take up the extra space, though, we gained Wayne Albers, Patsy Hoover, Thomas Long, and Dee Anna Mitchell. In our sophomore year, we were put to work harder, but as time went on, we found that our studies were not really as hard as they could be.

Then, we were Juniors, upperclassmen at last. Now we were a class of twenty-nine. We had lost three of our associates during the last year. They were Patsy Hoover, Thomas Long, and Mary Smith. Carol Abbott came to our ranks during our sophomore year. We all worked hard, earning money so we could give the seniors a nice prom. We worked at every football and basketball game, at the concession stand, and then, to be sure we had enough money, we voted to have class dues.

We gave the seniors an unforgettable prom. We gave it at the St. Francis Hotel on the evening of May 5. After a dinner and a program, a dance, complete with dance band, was held. At commencement last year, we made an aisle for the Class of 1956 and while doing this, had our first taste of nostalgia, since we had had only one year left.

At the beginning of our junior year, twenty-five members of our class of twenty-nine came back. Those left behind are; Joan Blanton, Earnest Campbell, Sandra Glasscock, and Edna Hollars. As the year progressed, we lost another of our class, Myrna Anslinger.

Finally, the year has come to an end, and with it, our twelve years of schooling. Only eight of us have been through the twelve years together. They are; Dianne Hughes, Jean Knapp, Jean Freeman, Katie Clary, Susie McKernan, Larry Nocks, Stanley Ritter and Edward Zimmerman. For some of our class there will be more years of schooling, but for most, their school days are over. All of the happy, carefree life of school is gone, but we have made unforgettable memories and lifelong friends.

Therefore, we the Class of 1957, wish to thank you, the people of the Troy Schools, and all of our parents, for your faithful and patient help towards giving us a start in the world beyond.
