Years pass away; memories remain

Memories are what high school is all about. Memories of good times with close friends, doing well on a difficult test, and giving up those blue jeans for a gown or tuxedo for one special night.

These are difficult, yet carefree years. These are the years in which boys and girls struggle to become men and women, and plan for their futures. Yet, these are happy times, because the pressures and responsibilities of the world have not yet been felt. Most of all, these are wonderful years that deserve to be remembered.

The days pass quickly and soon friends will say good-bye and go out to challenge the world and realize their dreams. They will leave with knowledge, hope, and probably a little fear, but most of all they will leave with memories.

There is a saying from "Camelot" which perhaps best describes this book.

Don't ever let it be forgot,
That there was this spot,
For one brief, shining moment.

Of all the many memories a student has of his high school years, perhaps the fondest and most important, are of the people he knew.

People are the life-blood of a school. Everyone plays an important part. There were the teachers who struggled, laughed, and cried with us, who shared in our victories and defeats, in order to help us light the lamp of knowledge. The principal, secretaries, and school board helped keep everything in order and make important decisions. There were the cooks, janitors, and bus drivers who fed us, kept the school clean, and delivered us to our homes, contests, and sport events.

But of all these, the best memories come from our fellow students. Memories of laughter, hopes, and dreams shared with friends. These are what remain with us through the years.
Seniors depart

Graduation classes of THS traditionally choose a color, flower, and motto. The seniors of '83 chose light blue and pink as their colors. The carnation was picked as the class flower. The motto, which should be remembered in later years, was “The only person worse than a quitter, is the one who is afraid to begin.”

The seniors traveled to Kansas City for their trip with the money they raised from selling magazines.

The junior class ran the concession stand during the football and basketball season. They were supervised by Mrs. Goss, and they earned money to go toward prom.

During the month of September, the juniors looked at class rings from Jostens and Balfour. The class decided to buy their rings from Jostens.

The juniors played a big role in the extra activities at Troy High. Many of the juniors were involved in the all-school play, cross country, football, volleyball, basketball, FFA, and Kayettes, and the juniors had the largest class involved in T-Club this year.

Sophomores regard biology as challenge

This past year the sophomore class didn't make very much money. The only products they sold were a variety of cookbooks.

Biology and English were among the various subjects required. Biology was found challenging.

Far right: The class officers were Lisa Weber, president; Deanna Winzer, vice-president; Mr. Buhl, sponsor; Paula Moore, treasurer; and Diana Shelton, secretary.

Frosh enter

The height of the school year for the freshmen was made selling Tom Watt merchandise. The class made $1,401.00 from their money-making project.

The freshmen had a tough year as most freshmen do. They had to put up with the upper-classmen’s criticisms. Yet they were not left out of the fun at THS. Many freshmen participated in sports, activities and organizations.

Faculty interests vary

One hobby of Mrs. Martha Rockey was playing the piano. Mrs. Rockey played the piano for the high school chorus, the high school mixed ensemble, and at the Methodist Church. She has been playing since the fourth grade.

Mr. Fred Folsche had been an amateur aviator for the past 20 years. He flew remote control air planes, usually on Sundays, Mr. Folsche made some of his planes and traded with others.

In his spare time Mr. Arthur Buhl enjoyed bow hunting. He had hunted since grade school and competed a little in high school and college.

One of Miss Debra Fitch's hobbies was photography. She said she enjoyed taking scenic pictures while traveling over the summer.

Mr. Lyle Rockey, with the help of Mrs. Rockey, Mr. Alfred Zimmerman, and a college student, built his home out of an old house.

Right: Mrs. Israel studied at Marymount College. A common saying of hers was, "All right, now."

Below: Mrs. Rockey attended Kansas State University. She could often be heard questioning, "Can we hold it down in here?"

Bottom Right: Mr. Folsche received his degree at Kansas State University. "A-I, boy, A-II!" was a popular response of his. "I forgot," could often be heard from Mr. Buhl, who received his degree at New Mexico University and was working on another at Kansas State University.
To work his way through college, Mr. Bruce Reynolds became a licensed cosmotologist. He worked for mortuaries preparing deceased persons.

Besides living in Troy, Miss Denise Roebkes also had a residence in Falls City, Nebraska. She lived in Troy while school was in session and in Falls City during the summer.

Mr. Dale Whiteside's hobby was electric trains. Mr. Whiteside collected electric trains and tried to start a train club in Troy.

Mrs. Babetta Israel had been the Troy High School Kayette sponsor for the past eight years. She hosted the Kayette Conference twice.

Top: "I remember one time . . . " was a popular phrase of Mr. Reynolds who received his degrees at Emporia State University and North West Oklahoma State University.

Left: Miss Fitch studied at Donnelly College, Kansas City Kansas Community College and Pittsburg State. She would often respond with "Say what?"

"Get to work," demanded Miss Roebkes, who studied at Northwest Missouri State University.

Far left: "Simply . . . " was frequently heard from Mr. Rockey who attended Highland Community College and Emporia State University.

If one heard the words, "This time everybody plays, everybody wins," it was probably coming from Mr. Whiteside who attended Kansas State University.
Mr. Frank Davis at one time taught at Highland Community Junior College. As to why he stopped teaching there and began teaching here he commented, "For two reasons: money, and this way I was closer to my kids."

For relaxation Mr. Severt Anderson played golf two to three times a week last summer. He has played this sport since he was four years old.

Mrs. Anna Goss had instructed students at THS for 33 consecutive years. She reminisced, "Back then school was from 9 A.M. to 4 P.M. Now there are a lot more subjects and extra curricular activities.

Everyone knew that Mr. Bill Foster ran in his spare time, but how many knew that he also went rafting and canoeing. Three days out of the summer he traveled from Nebraska City to White Cloud on the Missouri River.

Above: At Emporia State Mr. Anderson received his masters degree in counseling and a bachelors degree. What he says often is, "I'll get back to you later."

Two teachers join high school staff

Miss Jodie Giles and Mr. Kirk Pemberton were the only new members of the faculty.

Miss Giles went to NWMSU in Maryville where she majored in physical education for K-12 with emphasis on coaching. She taught health and freshman girls' P.E. She was also the assistant coach of girls' track and girls' basketball. Her hobbies included golfing, cooking, making hand crafts, and playing sports.

Mr. Pemberton received his education at Pittsburg State University in Pittsburg, Kansas. He instructed band and chorus. In his spare time he liked to refinish furniture.

Left: Mr. Foster attended nine different schools. Three of them were the University of Chicago, the University of Idaho, and the University of California at Davis. "You lose!" was a popular remark of his.
Johnston boosts spirit

Mr. Johnston told students that his door was open for anyone to come and talk to him. He came up with an idea for spirit in the school. The class with the most spirit won a free hour that week. It started off as a great success.

Nell Larzelere kept the records straight while Gail Clary did work that involved the students directly, such as issuing admit slips and punching lunch tickets.

Above: One of the changes that occurred in Mr. Johnston's life was the birth of his third son.
The school board met the first Monday of every month. Mr. Pharr, Mr. Johnston and Mr. Harter gave reports on the many topics of importance. The board discussed the various occurrences and needs that arose. Some purchases that they approved were five overhead doors for the bus barn and a 20" Kent Electric Automatic Scrubbervac for the gym. The minutes were taken by Nell Larzelere.
Kitchen gains new cooks

"Come and get it!" The cooks at THS spent many hours in the kitchen getting ready for the stampede after the noon bell rings.

There were two new additions to the cooking staff. The rookies were Coleene Duncan and head cook Margaret Sutton. The remaining cook was veteran Chloe Winder, who had worked at THS for five years.

Upper right: Coleene Duncan, Margaret Sutton, and Chloe Winder take time out to be silly.

"Work, work, work, rush, rush, rush. That’s all we ever do." The janitors at THS were always busy keeping the halls and rooms clean.

The bus drivers were responsible for getting the Trojans to school on time and home again safely. They also provided transportation after cross country, football, volleyball, basketball, and track practice. The bus drivers were also responsible for taking students to different school activities.
Student life explored

Student life was a new section designed to give a different look at the students of THS. This section did not have to do with any classes, groups, organizations, or activities, but the students as individuals.

THS students had many ways to spend their spare time, such as part time jobs, working as volunteers for a political campaign, and other things which they found exciting.

Students also found ways to make the time more exciting in school also. Wild games of basketball during lunch hour were one way that the students could relieve the pressure of a day at school.
Also, crazy antics in the halls seemed to make the day go a little faster.

But no matter what was happening, the one thing one always saw, was friendship. Whether it was two friends studying for a test or a group of friends running the town together, the one thing THS had, was friendship.

Activities
Special moments always make for great memories, and in high school there are many of those moments.

What queen of Homecoming, Queen of Courts, or FFA Sweetheart, could forget the thrill of wearing that crown and presiding over those festivities? What young actor didn’t feel relieved and proud while receiving applause at the school play? Who could forget getting all dressed up in that gown or tux for one memorable evening called prom?

Perhaps we do tend to forget while the memories are new, but on that exciting, frightening, night known as graduation, they all come flooding back.
Mendi chosen queen for Homecoming '82

Miss Mendi Ashworth was crowned Homecoming Queen October 1 during the pre-game ceremonies. Danny King received the honor of head escort. He presented Mendi six roses, a crown, a sash, and a kiss. Mendi's court was Julie Blake, Linda Briggs, Mary Middleton, and Becky Winkel. They were escorted by Don Huss, John Marriott, Ronnie Shelton, and Larry Wilke, respectively. Each candidate was presented a rose and a kiss.

Crown and gift bearers were Eric Anderson, Glen Gronniger, Nikia Rosenberger, and Jamie Smith.

The candidates were chosen by the football team, and the queen was chosen by the student body.

The week preceding Homecoming is known as Spirit Week. Some activities were Punk Rock Day, Sweats Day, the bonfire, pep rallies given by different organizations, and the Mr. Legs Contest.

After a 10-8 victory over the Valley Falls Dragons, the student council sponsored a record dance in the old gym.

Gentlemen Prefer Blondes

Several students of THS presented the all-school play, “Gentlemen Prefer Blondes,” November 18 and 19. It was written by Anita Loos.

The play begins when Lorelei and Dorothy are off to Europe to get an “education,” but as Lorelei comes to learn, “for a girl like I,” an education can mean many things: falling in love, losing one’s money, and breaking one’s heart.

Julia wins competition

Barnwarming was held November 20. The 1982-83 Chapter Sweetheart was Julia Simpson. She was presented six roses, a crown, and an FFA jacket by her escort Rob Karn. Jill Jarrett, escorted by Steve Tharman, was first runner-up, and Carrie Chase was second runner-up. She was escorted by Ken Neumann.

Other attendants and escorts were Tammy Clary and Ken Tharman, Lori Masters and Doug Meng, Denise Sutherland and Bill Griffin, and Pam Wykert and Larry Wilke. Each candidate received a rose and a kiss from her escort.

The girls were judged on an interview with the judges, a tool quiz, an FFA quiz, a written essay on “Why I Want To Be FFA Sweetheart,” and seven events. The events included threading a bolt, throwing a bale of straw, hammering a nail, climbing a rope, sawing a board, roping a trashcan, and driving a tractor through pylons.

Carl Tharman, Sr. was the disc jockey for the dance in the old gym that the FFA sponsored.
Mary crowned

Ronnie Keller crowned Mary Middleton the 1983 Queen of Courts, February 4.

Mary received a crown, sash, bouquet of roses, and a kiss from head escort Ronnie Keller.

Mary’s attendants were Julie Blake, Brenda Boeh, Linda Briggs and Becky Winkel. Their escorts were John Marriott, Rob Karn, Marty Clary, and Doug Meng. “Astre” provided the music for the dance. The theme was “Truly.”

Larry Mr. Irresistible

Larry Wilke was named 1983 Mr. Irresistible during the ceremonies held March 25. Larry was presented a medallion by head escort Connie Johnson.

The five senior candidates were chosen by the Kayettes. Mr. Irresistible was elected by the student body. The escorts were chosen by the Kayettes and the girl with the most votes was honored head escort.

Other candidates and their escorts were Chris Beaty and Betty Ernzen, Marty Clary and Mendi Ashworth, Ronnie Keller and Brenda Boeh, and Danny King and Becky Winkel.

The giftbearers were Tracy Simmons, daughter of Rick and Peggy Simmons, and Travis Davies, son of Garold and Shirley Davies.

Seniors meet defeat

Troy women's faculty-booster team won 40-36. Since there were not enough faculty women to play, the women boosters were called in. The faculty-booster team had four cheerleaders to boost them on. They were Jerry Jarrett, Bob Klaus, John Marriott, and Jack Masters.

In the men’s game the faculty defeated the seniors, 63-48.

Troy boosters took on the Midway boosters April 7. The Trojans fell to the Eagles, 40-38. This money was used to go towards the purchase of a video tape recorder.

One-Act Play Takes I

A first was achieved for the forensics squad this year by its receiving a I rating at state on the one-act play.

Despite the fact that the team had few people, the fourteen-member squad proved to be successful at every contest. At league contest, Troy placed third overall, and at Troy's invitational meet, the team placed second.

Prom night remembered

"Just Between You and Me" was the theme chosen for the junior-senior prom. It was held April 23, 1983.

Promptly at 6:30 P.M. the banquet began. Many of the juniors' mothers prepared the meal. The sophomores who served the meal were Liessa Martinez, Paula Moore, Diana Shelton, Lisa Weber, Deanna Winzer, Jeff Adkins, Michael Foley, Paul Gronniger, Jeff Jamvold, and Roger Whetstine.

After eating, Ken Neumann gave the welcome. Senior president Julie Blake gave the response and presented a gift to Mrs. Goss, the senior sponsor. Everyone enjoyed the speaker Mrs. Lewis. The junior class presented her a gift of appreciation. Mike Guy gave the closing and dismissed everyone.

"Swift Kik" provided the music for the students and their dates.

After the dance, many drove to Atchison to watch "First Blood."

It was an enjoyable evening for everyone. Many memories were made to last a lifetime.

CLASS MOTTO

“The only one that is worse than a quitter is the one afraid to begin”
Seniors say farewell for good

Baccalaureate was held Sunday, May 15, 1983 at the C.W. Oliver Gymnasium. Graduation was held Tuesday, May 17, at the same place.

From victories to tragedies, the 1982-'83 school year was an eventful one.

Nationwide, on September 14, Princess Grace of Monaco lost her life following a terrible automobile accident. On September 29, people began to die mysteriously after taking Extra-Strength Tylenol and James Lewis was later questioned.

Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev passed away November 10, and on December 8 Norman Mayer was killed by police after threatening to destroy the Washington monument.

The country mourned the death of famed Alabama coach Bear Bryant in January and again in February mourned for singer Karen Carpenter.

Native Kansan John Riggins helped the Washington Redskins defeat the Miami Dolphins in the Superbowl, January 30.

A horrible storm battered the California coast in early March and destroyed many homes and property. Later that month Barney Clark lost his battle for life after 112 days with the world's first artificial heart. On April 5, the Challenger was shot into space, and later, Chicago elected its first black mayor, Harold Washington.

The world of entertainment made people forget their problems even if only for a while. The giant blockbuster was about a lovable little alien named E.T., who charmed his way into the hearts of America. Other big movie hits were An Officer and a Gentleman, Tootsie, Gandhi, and Sophie's Choice.

In music, a group from Down Under called "Men at Work," took the country by storm. Olivia Newton-John, Kenny Rogers, Air Supply, Styx and Journey all stayed on top.

Of course everyone was keeping up on the latest clothing styles. The tuxedo look, mini-skirts, and fashions reminiscent of the '50's were just a few of the latest looks.
School year proves eventful

The past school year was pretty special for Troy High School. Two major accomplishments were achieved.

For the first time in nearly 50 years Troy won the title of Sub-State Basketball Champions. Although the team later fell, they had gone farther than any team in years and won a great honor.

The one-act play cast set a new record by becoming the first play cast to receive a I rating at state speech. The play was the “Fabulous Fable Factory.”

Groups
Everyone needs to be a part of something, to feel that he belongs, to get involved. Groups provide students with that sense of belonging, giving them something to work for together and providing them with many happy memories.

What girl can forget the feeling of doing something good for her community as a member of Kayettes? The thrill of being in pep club and cheering on the team through both victory and defeat, and the pride at being chosen a member of the National Honor Society linger on long after the high school years are over.

People working together. That is what groups are really all about, and that is the source of the fondest memories. Memories of friends last a life-time.
Students serve faculty

Troy High School had seventeen aides. There were seven library aides, six grade school aides, three office aides, and one industrial arts aide.

StuCo keeps busy

The Troy High School Student Council held two dances, Homecoming and Queen of Courts. The StuCo members sponsored a Christmas Party for the student body, which was something new. Refreshments were served and games were played. Some of them were egg toss, scooter races, and passing an orange under their chin.

The StuCo members went to the December board meeting and brought up the subject of an open lunch hour, which was narrowly voted down by the board.

Kayettes complete projects

The project, which was started in 1980, of purchasing the new trophy case was completed by the Kayettes. The Kayettes paid one half of the total cost.

The annual projects such as the slumber party, selling candy bars, and the shopping trip to Kansas City were completed this year. Kayettes gave programs for the kindergarten and visited the local nursing home. For the seventh year, the Kayettes sponsored a foster child from the British Honduras.

The annual installation banquet was April 25. The theme was “Up Where We Belong.” Entertainment for the evening was provided by Mr. Alferd Zimmerman, who performed a magic act.

Journalists raise money

For the first time the publications class wasn’t in debt. The school board paid the balance from the 1982 yearbook.

The class raised money by selling M&M’s, catalog items, shoelaces, and by having a bake sale. They also sponsored a computer match-up for THS students. More money was earned this year than ever before.

The entire class attended communications day April 7. They also attended the KSPA Regional Journalism Contest, February 19, at KU. Six journalists qualified for state competition: Bryan Gaither, Cheryl Begesse, Wilma Hoverson, Carrie Chase, Julia Simpson, and Theresa Simpson.

Club raises funds

The cheerleaders attended a DCA Cheerleading Camp at Emporia, Kansas. They placed third overall in their division. Their goal group awards were Outstanding Jumps and Stunts, Spirit, Leadership, and Skill. They learned various chants, cheers, stunts, and two routines.

The pep club raised money by having bake sales and by selling Tootsie Rolls. The cheerleaders sold light bulbs and had bake sales over summer vacation. The pep club purchased a new sign-making kit, and they sponsored a hayrack ride. The officers and sponsor, Miss Debra Fitch, introduced the point system to the club. The members needed to accumulate a certain amount of points to letter.

New leaders gained

Two members of the FFA chapter were awarded the State Farmer Award; they were Ken Tharman and Ken Neumann.

Some of the events that the chapter attended were State Leadership Camp, National Convention, and the Sunflower Expo or Topeka Fair.

The chapter attended many contests, including Land Judging.

Julia Simpson was chosen as the FFA Sweetheart and presided over the annual Barnwarming Dance.

Ken Tharman, president of the chapter, was elected District Treasurer.

At the annual FFA Banquet the new officers were installed. They were Ken Neumann, president; Ken Tharman, vice-president; Bill Griffin, treasurer; Doug Meng, secretary; Jeff Jamvold, reporter; and Rob Karn, sentinel.
T-Club sponsors game to purchase equipment

The T-Club is a group of students who have lettered in any sport, or event. The group is made up of over half of the student body.

T-Club sponsored the senior-faculty basketball game, as well as other various activities to help pay for the new weight equipment.

T-Club held the annual banquet in May.

Students honored

Honor Society members must have a 3.0 grade average and then be voted on by the teachers on the basis of good character, leadership and services, such as sports and speech.

To be a member of Quill and Scroll the student had to be in the upper third of the class and be exceptional in one phase of journalism. The old members must also approve the new member.

Top, Honor Society Members and sponsor were, Row 1: Brenda Boeh, Marty Clary and Mary Middleton; Row 2: Chris Beaty, Wilma Hoverson, Cheryl Begesse and Sponsor Fred Folsche.

The members of Quill & Scroll were Cheryl Begesse and Mary Middleton.
Academics
Knowledge doesn't come easy. It takes much drive, hope, sweat, and tears. But above all, it takes a desire to excel, to be on top. And without it, there can be no bright future or better life.

When a student looks back, he will remember the many challenges each of his high school classes presented. The difficult tests, the many projects and experiments all dared him to use his mind, to discover exciting new worlds.
Music taught

The first day of school the band teacher, Mr. Robert Dreher resigned. Troy High School was in trouble. The school board replaced the band director when the school was in need. The school then hired a teacher who came into this school ready to help. Mr. Kirk Pemberton was then the new band teacher at THS.

The band and chorus traveled to Atchison for a music clinic at Benedictine College.

They also went to Shawnee Mission East for the regionals contest.

There were two groups in chorus who performed at regionals. Wanda Adkins took a solo and received a II rating, and Chris Beaty, Brenda Boeh, Linda Briggs, and Bryan Gaither had a senior quartet and received a I, qualifying for state, which they were unable to attend.

Academics
Pom pon girls perform routines

The Pom Pon team was a group of young ladies, who not only made up their own material, but who performed at most home football and basketball games.

The girls were sponsored by Mr. Kirk Pemberton.

This was a year to remember for the girls because there will no longer be a team.

Math covers wide area

Algebra I, and II, geometry, and senior math were taught by Miss Debbie Fitch. General math was instructed by Mr. Fred Folsche.

Incoming freshmen were placed in either Algebra I or general math according to previous grades.

In Algebra I students used basic skills to solve algebra problems.

Algebra II further developed the skills taught in Algebra I. Basic trigonometry was also introduced.

Geometry was designed to deal with points, lines, surfaces and solids and examine their properties, measurement, and mutual relations in space.

Senior math was taught to serve as a preparation for calculus.

General math showed students how to use the basic skills to solve problems in life situations.
Science classes compete

Mr. Bill Foster's chemistry and physics classes competed at the chemathon contest at Missouri Western State College. The two classes also had the opportunity to tour the Wolf Creek Nuclear Energy Plant at Burlington, Kansas.

The major project for biology students was the collecting of plants and arrangement of them in a plant book. In earth science the class mapped a geological history of the earth.

P.E. classes varied

P.E. was taught by Mr. Frank Davis and Miss Jodie Giles.

Freshmen p.e. and advanced p.e. classes had the opportunity to learn many different sports. Some of the sports taught were tennis, badminton, basketball, handball, aerobic dancing, and weightlifting.

Skills taught

Home economics was taught by Mrs. Anna Goss.

Home Ec. I students were taught the fundamentals of sewing.

Home Ec. II students learned the basics of cooking. They plucked and cooked chickens as one of their assignments. The class also made and served refreshments for the Christmas concert.

Home Ec. III encompassed advanced sewing and cooking.

The home living class had a variety of projects throughout the year. Cooking and macramé were among the projects.
English, business offer many options

The English Department was composed of Mrs. Babetta Israel and Mrs. Martha Rockey. Students were offered a variety of classes, among them research, and children’s theatre.

Research, taught by Mrs. Israel, allowed the students to develop a research paper. Emphasis was put on a college research writing.

Some other classes Mrs. Israel taught were study skills, and Poe and mystery writers.

Children’s theatre, taught by Mrs. Rockey, developed students’ knowledge of children’s literature. Students staged a puppet show and performed two plays. Costumes and props for the puppet shows, as well as the plays, were made by the students.

Mrs. Rockey also taught short story and speech.

Typing I and II, accounting, and general business were taught by Mr. Dale Whiteside.

In general business students learned about budgets and banking and other personal management skills.

Business math was instructed by Mr. Bruce Reynolds.

Projects aid student grasp of societies

American history, geography, and sociology were taught by Mr. Lyle Rockey, Jr.

Sociology classes explored the various aspects of people in society. A new project for students in sociology was collecting 25 articles on divorce, or any assigned topic, and then using the information to write a paper on how divorce, or that topic, affects human population.

In geography students made a topographical map of Africa.

Juniors studied 1492 to the present in American history.

Right: Lisa Weber and Scott Collins think about the places they have studied in geography.
Students have many projects

Vo-Ag was instructed by Mr. Art Buhl. Students had many projects, including electrical wiring, welding, livestock judging, and reconditioning a '58 Chevy truck.

Mr. Fred Folsche's industrial arts classes built a trophy case and shelves for the library. Individual projects included cedar chests and stereo cabinets.

Top: Larry Wilke, Chris Beaty, and Mike Guy work hard on individual projects.

Students honored

An awards assembly honoring students for their various achievements throughout the year took place during the afternoon of May 10.

Mr. Leonard Clary presented the American Legion Award to Larry Wilke and Mary Middleton. Chris Beaty, Brenda Boeh, and Mendi Ashworth received Honorable Mention. These awards were voted on by the senior class.

The KSHSAA Citizenship Award was presented to Mary Middleton and Larry Wilke by a vote of the teachers.

The National Honor Society accepted nine juniors into its membership. They were Carrie Chase, Tammy Clary, Jill Jarrett, Doug Meng, Ken Neumann, Julia Simpson, Ken Tharman, and Marilyn Weber. National Honor Society members are voted on by the faculty and must have a 3.0 grade point average.

Carrie Chase, Wilma Hoverson, Jill Jarrett, Julia Simpson, and Theresa Simpson became new members of Quill and Scroll.

Letters were awarded in pep club and in speech.

Four students were recognized for their perfect attendance thus far. They were Bill Griffin, Henry Jones, Opal Jones, and Larry Wilke.

Rhonda Boyle was awarded the Outstanding Math-Science Award, given by Kansas State University. Mr. Bill Foster gave chemistry and physics awards.

The senior quartet, Chris Beaty, Linda Briggs, Brenda Boeh, and Bryan Gaither, were recognized and given certificates by Mr. Kirk Pemberton.

Brenda Boeh was given the Arion Foundation Award. Bryan Gaither was presented the Sousa Award.

Linda Briggs received a special forensics award for having made the most points for four years. Theresa Simpson also was given a forensics award for making the most points during the school year.
Sports
Sports are an important part of high school, because not only do they strengthen the body, but they promote fellowship, working together toward a common goal.

Sports also provide many fond memories. Memories of relief as the finish line was reached, of pride at making that touchdown, of happiness at shooting the winning basket. Not only in victory, but even in defeat there are happy memories of doing one's best, of working as a team.

A special memory of 1983 was the joy of becoming substate basketball champions.
JV tries

Bruce Reynolds coached the THS junior varsity football team. THS players did not come out with a successful season. They played three tough teams, Horton, Jackson Heights, and Midway. THS had a win against Wathena.

CC competes

The CC team participated in meets at Maur Hill, Holton, Horton, and Sabatha. The girls' state meet was at Wamego. The girls qualified by time. The boys participated in regionals at Sabatha.

Spikers improve skills

Miss Debra Fitch tried to change THS girls' sports department this year. She showed a great deal of concern for the girls when a problem was bothering one of the players. Togetherness was stressed by the new coach. The girls' first goal was to win a game and then to win a match. The Lady Trojans gave it their best shot and ended up with a 5-15 record.

Coach Fitch stated, "This year was a year for learning to work with others. Our team improved much from last year. I am looking forward to a winning season next year. We will be losing two seniors, but have seven juniors to lead THS."

Top: Brenda Boeh and Connie Johnson are congratulated for participating in volleyball the two years Troy has had it. Connie was also nominated for All-League.
Below: Lady Trojans are working together to set up the ball and spike it.
The Trojan football team had a successful year. They finished the season 5-3, and were second in the league standings. The Trojans started the season with a loss, but then the year began to show promise. After the team boosted student body spirit by winning Homecoming, their goal was the playoffs. They had to win their last four games of the season to be eligible. The boys fell short of this goal by one. They lost a tough game to Jackson Heights.

Troy sub-state champ

The Trojan basketball squad had an outstanding sea­son with a record of sixteen wins and six losses. The Trojans finished second in league, behind Jackson Heights.

For the third straight year the Trojans brought home a first-place trophy from the Highland Tournament. The Trojan cagers won the title of 1983 Sub-State Champs, by defeating Onaga, Linn, and Axtell.

For the first time in 44 years the Trojans went to the State Tournament, but were defeated by Johnson-Stanton County Trojans in the first round of play. The squad was led by five juniors: John Marriott, Don Huss, Doug Meng, Rob Karn, and Ronnie Shelton. The Trojans were coached by Kevin Kelley and Lyle Rockey, Jr.

The state tournament was held in Topeka at the Municipal Auditorium. The school provided transportation for the booster club, student body, TMS, pep club, cheerleaders, and anyone wishing to attend.

Girls and coaches climb to success

Basketball season for the Lady Trojans turned out to be very successful. Even though their record, 7-12, doesn't reflect a winning year, the girls made important steps up their ladder of success. The season began rather slowly for the girls because of a tough schedule, with six out of the first seven games played on their opponents' courts, but it wasn't long before the Lady Trojans would really come to life and make the year something to remember for everyone involved. Under the coaching of Jodie Giles and Frank Davis, the girls worked like a team and they began to realize what success really means.

Girls’ relay teams reveal team effort

Tammy Clary, Connie Johnson, Laurie Klaus, Paula Smith, and Karen Thomas did an outstanding job for the track team this year.

Connie Johnson, Laurie Klaus, Paula Smith, and Karen Thomas set a new school record in the 400-m relay with a time of 53.06. This relay was unbeaten until regionals where they missed qualifying for state by less than one second.

Another school record, 4:33, was set by Tammy Clary, Connie Johnson, Laurie Klaus, and Paula Smith in the 1600-m relay.

Four of the girls also set individual records. Tammy Clary set the school record of 58.2 in the 330-yd. hurdles. She also ran the two-mile in a record time of 14:08. Connie Johnson sprinted 200 meters to set a new record of 27.1. Laurie Klaus broke the old record in the 400-m dash and set a new time of 65.0. Karen Thomas ran 880 yards and set a new record of 2:41.29.

Athletes earn awards

Again this year instead of having a formal banquet, the T-Club decided to have an informal pot-luck dinner. Since there was no speaker the awards were given directly after dinner.

The basketball coaches started something new this year. They gave awards for most rebounds, best field goal percentage, best free-throw percentage, most assists and most total points. Most rebounds was earned by Jill Jarrett and Rob Karn; best field goal percentage, Carrie Chase and Don Huss; best free-throw percentage, Laree Sandy and Doug Meng; most assists, Laurie Klaus and John Marriott; and most total points, Carrie Chase and Don Huss. Their names will be engraved on a plaque and put in the trophy case.

After all the athletes who received letters and bars were recognized, two special awards were given. Don Huss was the recipient of the “Tom Keller Award” for the most tackles. Also, Connie Johnson had the prestige of winning the school’s highest athletic honor, the “Bill Foster Award.”

Trojan businesses change

Many Trojan businesses were gained, lost, or changed ownership during the 1982-'83 school year.

Don and Phyllis Dishon opened a flower and gift shop, featuring fresh flowers, plants, and garden statuary.

Mr. Butch Ashworth sold his grocery store after many years in business.

Several businesses also changed hands. Mrs. Edna Reder became the new manager of the Trunk. Mr. Gary Simpson took over ownership of Simpson's Pro Hardware. After many years of serving Trojans, Sinclair Rexall Drugs was sold and became Miller Pharmacy.
