This year was the start of a wild journey as people from two different districts came together to meet in the same place. To some this place was brand new and to others it was like their second home. But no matter where they came from, they joined together to become ONE. ONE school, ONE crowd, ONE group of people put their differences aside to bring the WEST together and form a new community—a place called Doniphan WEST High School. Affected by this change included everyone from students and teachers to community supporters as well as those from other schools. Everyone was anxious to see how the agreement would work out. How would two rival schools be able to come together and become ONE? Instead of the usual blue and white on one side and red, white, and blue on the other, people now see shades of navy and orange. Instead of hearing "Go Eagles" or "Go Bluestreaks," fans from D. WEST chant "Let's Go Mustangs" and show off their new navy and orange attire. Although Midway and Highland will always be part of us, life is not always easy and we must understand that things change. This year was time to start a new chapter filled with new journeys and experiences. Change can be hard but will make us stronger, and it will be filled with opportunity. In this book is a story, told with pictures and words, of our first year at Doniphan WEST High School. It is filled with games we played, people we met, things we learned, and fun we had. This is a story we will always remember. It is the story of how the WEST was ONE.

Mustang Moments

PEOPLE

In a Million

The students put a lot of time and energy into all the activities that they get involved in. I think it adds to their growth as they grow into adulthood. I support them because I want them to know I'm very proud of all their hard work. As for myself, it brings me a lot of pleasure to see them succeed and makes me feel good if I can share in a little of their success.

Janet Libel

Do you feel the support and spirit were strong for the Mustang athletes?

"Our community and parents supported us throughout the year and it felt good to have them come and watch us play. I hope this continues in upcoming years."

Kamron Winchester

"The support started out strong for the athletes and ended weak. But thanks to all the parents who came out and supported us."

Jessica Libel

"There were definitely more fans in the stands this year compared to previous years."

Jackie Denton, freshman, displays her chandelier or "dangely" earrings which are the perfect accessory to match any style. These are the epitome of class and sophistication.

Rock on! Adam Herrs, senior, show us his vintage rock and roll t-shirt. The saying "Rock and Roll never dies," just keeps proving itself over and over these days.

Lyndsey Elrod, senior, kicks back her new "pointy" toed boots, the hottest style in foot apparel this year. From subtle brown to vibrant bright pink, these boots have sophistication written all over them.

Buff bodies are beautiful! Now more than ever being in shape means being in style. Not only do muscles look good but they also reflect a person's desire for a healthy lifestyle.

Kayla Dunlap, sophomore, is wearing another one of the hottest styles this year--torn jeans. They look nice, while the holes give them a comfortable, casual look as well.

Going to state the first year as being a Doniphan West Mustang was a pretty big accomplishment. Coached by Angie Eberly, the team placed sixth out of 12 teams at the state meet in Wamego. After the little mix-up at the Troy meet, which is the county meet, the team placed first. The "mix-up occurred" when places were counted incorrectly and the first place plaque was awarded to Wathena (which in fact belonged to Doniphan West!). Both boys and girls received first place. Overall, the team would say that the first year of cross country for Doniphan West went really well and that hopefully there are many more great years to come.

We can definitely say that we started some new traditions, like the time when Coach Eberly grew her fingernails out and said she wasn't going to cut them until we got first place at a meet. Well, it turned out they were getting a little too long and she ended up cutting them off at the McLouth meet when we got third.

Laurence Dickson, Gerald Folsom, coach Angie Eberly, Amanda Zeit, and Ashley Stewart huddle after the state race at Wamego.

TOGETHER & LOVING IT

The girls didn't know quite what to expect the first time they walked into the gym and stepped on the volleyball court wearing the new orange and blue uniforms. They walked by other schools, hearing people whisper to each other, "Who are they? Where are they from?" Despite all the stares and whispers, they held their heads high and simply responded that they were from Doniphan West and were the Mustangs.

Along with all the strenuous practices and competitive games the girls also had a lot of fun in between with trips to both coach Olson's and coach Handke's houses for food to singing in chorus as loud as they could all the way home from away games. The fun also included singing in rounds during morning practices and enjoying the lovely vocal and dancing talents of energetic teammates.

Although having fun is always a must, when it came time to stepping out on the court the girls knew when to be serious and get things done. The Mustangs finished their season with a 14-14 record and many priceless memories. It certainly was a challenge to come together in the beginning, but when looking out on the court and not being able to tell which girls were from Highland and which were from Midway, they knew they had succeeded. The team's motto for the year was summed up in one word, "together," because that's what they did--the girls came together.

At the last home game senior Samantha Keebler put into perspective what the team had accomplished and said, "With every win we grew stronger, and with every loss we picked each other up and grew even stronger. As the year ended we achieved something wonderful. Not only are we a team, we are a family, and this is our house."

The team is ready in coverage as Cortney Thompson spikes the ball.

"It is a privilege to work with such high quality young people. The girls gave 100% effort at practices and matches. We finished the season at 14-14, but won 8 out of our last 10 matches. We started out as individuals, from two separate schools, then became a team, and then we became family."

ONE STEP FURTHER

When the guys from the Midway and Highland programs merged this year into one team, they had to forget old rivalries and work together to start building something great for D. West. And the challenges weren't limited to the players. Just like all the players, coach Mark Martin had to adjust from coaching eight man to eleven man and familiarize himself with nine new opponents. One of the most memorable moments for Martin was the season-opening win at home with Valley Falls. He also mentioned the big fumble return for a touchdown against Wathena, winning the Homecoming game, and the comeback against Jackson Heights that fell just short in over-time as other great moments. All moments weren't great, though. As far as the record shows, the team didn't do as well as everyone had hoped. "Bottom line is we made too many mistakes, and against good opponents that can be the difference between a win and a loss," Martin said. However, the win-loss record isn't the only focus of a season--especially this one. Martin gave credit to the guys for coming together and doing their best at their positions. "We have some real quality young men on our team. Not just good players, but nice kids to be around." The players and coaches will carry away many memories and remember the history that they made being the first D. West football team. Fans from both the "north" and the "south" all gathered on Friday nights as one in hopes the Mustangs would win the game. The teammates and fans will take away the thought that they were there for the beginning of an era where once rivals came together under one roof and combined their talents to take another step further to greatness.

Daniel Kuhnert and Dusty Libel come in for a timeout.

Kip Peters tries to gain additional yardage against Valley Falls.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

The new cheerleading squad was excited about making this year one of their best. As they picked out and ordered new navy and orange uniforms monogrammed with DW Mustangs, broke in new pom-poms, and introduced Maverick the mascot, they knew this year was going to be the start of a brand new beginning. The cheerleaders worked hard to bring spirit to the new school and they showed that the Mustang wasn't just a different Mascot name, it was something to be proud of.

The drill team was something new this year. The group was composed of 23 girls. They had many practices, had a dance clinic for elementary children, and worked very hard to bring the crowd several performances throughout the year.

"Our first year as the Doniphan West Mustangs was exciting and challenging for the cheerleading squad. The cheerleaders rose to the challenge of creating new traditions, learning new material and helping bridge the two schools together one athletic event at a time."

"2004 brought the D. West Mustangs and the first school drill team for both Highland and Midway. The squad started the year a little apprehensive, but as the athletic seasons began they met each performance with energy, professionalism, and true Mustang pride!"

SOMETHING TO SHOOT FOR

Allison Thompson defends an inbound pass in a junior varsity game versus Horton.

Doniphan West and Troy players fight for a rebound.

At the beginning of the year, nobody knew what to expect with the combining of Midway and Highland schools. By the time basketball season had rolled around, though, everyone had gotten to know one another and were ready to defeat the opposing teams.

Coach Jennifer Bottom said the girls made a great transition. "I can't say enough about the girls' attitudes--towards each other, the coaches, the game itself."

The first girls' basketball team's accomplishments set the bar pretty high for future Doniphan West teams. The lady Mustangs had a record of 10 wins and 12 losses and placed first at the Elwood tournament.

Most of the girls who played on the team this year said that it was a great learning experience and mentioned that they couldn't wait until next winter.

Senior Shelby Davis said, "I think we had a great season. The future looks bright for Mustang girls basketball."

Freshman Stephanie Schneider agreed that it was a great season. "I had a lot of fun, and I am looking forward to next year."

CHAMPIONS OF CHANGE

Cody Miller goes in strong for two trying to rack up the points for his team during the Bern game.

Daniel Kuhnert shoots his free throws after being fouled by one of his Bern opponents.

The boys' basketball season was a pretty big roller coaster ride with some close games and new players adapting to each other. All in all, the season went pretty well, but more wins, of course, were wanted by the team and coach John Twombly.

Twombly said that shooting was one of the team's biggest difficulties and credited the depth of good athletes as a strength.

Both Highland and Midway were classified as IA schools before combining and both teams had to step up and play bigger teams. Twombly said, "The competition level was higher night in and night out."

Coach Twombly had positive comments about the season. "I enjoyed every moment this year. They are a great group of young men and it has been a great pleasure to get to know each of them."

Kole McCauley and Dustin Libel, both juniors, had positive comments about the season. "I really enjoyed playing with everybody on the team; everyone got along together great. Also, having Coach Twombly as our coach was great. He made us play as a team and really knows a lot about basketball," McCauley said. Libel said, "This basketball season was full of good memories. With the help of Coach Twombly, we all came together and played well."

Through the eyes of the players as well as the coach, to them their record was not the most important part of the season: it's the fact that they all came together as rivals, and played as one.

The Mustang track team had an amazing first year. From winning the very first track meet at the Elwood Relays to taking ten kids to state, the year was full of success. Although the typical Kansas weather caused a few delays, like the three-day Delaware Valley League track meet at Pleasant Ridge, everything eventually worked out. Both boys' and girls' teams made a mark at all the track meets with their blazing orange sweats and by winning team trophies and many individual medals. With brand new records set, they paved the way for the D. West track team for many years to come.

Chelsey Fritch chuckles at Coach Eberly's comments, which may have been that she do a running event.

STUCO

Taking action, getting results

For many students school started on Thursday August 19, but for STUCO members it started way back in May of 2004. They came together as two different schools hoping to make a difference in what was to become a new development. STUCO decided not to elect anyone else and to stick with everybody that was already there. Because there was a vice-president from each school and no president, they decided that the two vice-presidents would become co-presidents. A week before school even started STUCO was setting up for the first day. With orange and navy decorations and the new Mustang of Doniphan West. STUCO decorated the whole school with pride. During this year STUCO also planned dances, fundraisers, Homecoming events, and also renamed the Winter Dance "Winter Royalty." This year's STUCO came together as one and got things done.

What did STUCO do this year?

"This year, STUCO sponsored/organized dances and eased the transition from two separate schools to one united school."

Junior Megan Holt

"We helped try to solve the lunch problems, organized dances, and made up a new constitution."

Junior Lesley Harness

Kayla Dunlap takes advantage of being in journalism while hiding her pop in the camera case.

I think... She needs my help

While spending a lot of our time working on yearbook and the school newspaper, both journalism classes still managed to have a lot of fun. (Even though the good old excuse "I think she needs my help," was used to get out of class).

But all of our hard work in class paid off when we went to Manhattan, KS for regional contest. Eleven out of the sixteen girls in journalism class placed.

For our first ever yearbook, we put all of our ideas together to make sure that it would make a long lasting impression on future Doniphan West journalism classes.

Not only did we work hard on our yearbook, we spent some of our time making a good school newspaper as well. And even though most of our issues were followed by controversy, many were impressed with the first ever D. West Express.

What were your favorite moments in journalism class?

"When I hid in the closet and tried to scare Mr. Tyler. I was stuck in the closet because they never said 'candy.'"

- Allie Wilmes

"Spending half of our journalism class trying to figure out a way to spell, 'pkkkkkkkkkew!'"

- Amanda Zeit

"It was always exciting hearing the new complaints about our articles and newspapers. Controversy is always fun."

- Melissa Boos

"My favorite part was when we all went to K-State and I got to play pool with all of my classmates."

Smelling manure, hauling five gallon buckets of water and heaving hay bales helped Miranda Cluck win the title of FFA Sweetheart on Nov. 5, 2004 at the first Doniphan West Barnwarming. The night began with opening ceremonies performed by the chapter officers followed by a potluck supper. Next began the Sweetheart competition in which the candidates had to perform chores. The candidates were juniors Miranda Cluck and Jessica Lackey, sophomores Jackie Gronniger and Susan Boos, and freshmen Jessica Libel and Jackie Denton. To begin the competition, candidates first gave speeches over Agriculture Fueling America. They next began the first chore of the night—calf judging. Each candidate had another member help them rank the “calves” of other FFA members. Next was the smelling contest where the candidates had to identify farm products. After that was the obstacle course. The last chore of the night was the hay bale toss. The candidates also had to fill out an information test and be interviewed that same night. Their scores were tallied up to determine the winner. The evening ended with the FFA members being auctioned off for eight hours of work.

What was your favorite chore?

“Duh. . . eating, look at me, it’s what I like to do.”

— Miranda Cluck

“I liked the calf judging the most because it wasn’t what I expected and was something new.”

This year the Midway and Highland NHS Organizations joined together to form the new and improved Doniphan West National Honor Society. With the combined organizations there were 21 old members, and 17 new members were inducted into the organization this year. The induction ceremony was held on Monday, May 9. With the enlarged organization the members will be able to grow and continue to expand their organization by being faithful to the four traits of NHS: scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

Top Left: Lisa Handke welcomes guests to the ceremony and gives a brief history of NHS. Top Right: Inductees recite the chapter pledge.

Why is service important?

"While community service is an important part of NHS, it is also important that it is based on grades and school efforts as well."

- Kim Keller

"It is important to the proper function of society. It also gives individuals a reason to go out and do something."

- Evan Nuzum

3>>

"It helps us understand what it takes to keep people happy and to keep a safe and healthy environment."

- Ashton Lackey

"It gives the community a chance to know us better. It also gives us a chance to show we care about the community and the people in it."

Is that your FINAL ANSWER? Scholars' bowl buzzes in Quiz Bowl members dedicated a substantial chunk of their time this year to practices and meets. Starting in November, members met two times a week from 7:15 a.m. to 8 a.m. clear through the month of February. Sophomore Sarah Reiter said, "It was really hard to drag myself out of bed to go answer questions that I really didn't understand anyway." Along with early-morning practices, members also forfeited several Saturday mornings in order to attend various meets.

The junior varsity members made themselves known at the Doniphan West Invitational Meet by claiming both the first and second place spots. Coach Julie Dorrell said, "It was a thrill to watch our JV teams take both first and second places at our home meet."

While the team didn't claim as many first place spots as they would have liked, they had fun being together and brushing up on a little bit of knowledge while they were at it.

Breaking in the Tunes

The first Doniphan West choir and Swing Choir had a great year. Choir performed great at the concerts, even with the small number of students that participated. Swing Choir was a class that the students took, and it was separate from the choir class.

For DVL contest and regionals Swing Choir was a little worried but they pulled through and sounded awesome. The girls performed "The Poet Sings," the boys sang "Sixteen Tons," and the whole group sang "Oh Mary Don't You Weep." There were also five solos that did an outstanding job. At regionals all three ensembles received a one, so they were off to state. At state the boys received a 2, the girls a 2, and the group a 3.

Swing Choir members look forward to the Spring for their tour and this year they prepared a tribute to Jazz which included some songs from the musical Chicago. With their destination being Branson, Mo. they left on a six hour bus ride at 5 a.m. When they got there they opened for the 50's of the Hop show and then they got to watch the show. On the way home they stopped at Pleasant Ridge High School to perform--and they even did an encore! Their final tour performance was at Doniphan West Middle School.

The Swing Choir's final performance was the Friends theme song "I'll Be There for You" at graduation on May 21.

What was your favorite thing about Swing Choir?

"I had so much fun at Branson. Rooming with Kassi, Kelsey, and Chelsey K. was fun too."

-Lacy Sullivan

"I thought it was funny when Chelsey and Sterling put the pencil in the tile on the ceiling and took a tile out of the ceiling."

3>>

"I enjoyed the six hour bus ride to Branson. You would not believe the deep and highly intelligent conversations that took place."

-Megan Holt

A NOTEABLE GROUP

The D. West band—larger and louder than what the students, director, and audience members were used to—had a busy year. The pep band endured cold weather at football games and came inside for basketball games and pep rallies; marched in parades; held concerts; prepared pieces for contest; and played "Pomp and Circumstance" at graduation. Instructed by Richard Honish, they put on performances twice during the year and prepared for regional and state contests in between. The band overall received a 1 at regionals on April 2 at Benedictine College and received a 2 rating at the state competition in Sabetha. Solos and ensembles went to state competition at Concordia on April 30. At state, the clarinet quartet received a 1, and Jessica Johnson received a 1 on her saxophone solo.

What instrument do you play? What do you like about it?

"Flute—it sounds different than the other instruments."

-Bridget Janssen

"Tenor sax—it's something original and something not everyone plays."

-Allison Thompson

"Clarinet—it is small and a fun instrument to play."

-Jordanne Miller

<<3

"Snare Drum—I mostly enjoy playing beats and difficult solo pieces because they sound cool."

-Gerald Folsom

A Work of Art

Being able to take Art class was a new experience for many students this year, because Art was not part of the Midway curriculum. In the different sections of Art class students did graphite, chalk and charcoal drawing; pottery; acrylic painting; basic graphic design; color wheel study; art theory; and art history. One of the big projects the Art classes did this year was a mural on a wall down by the Art room. Each separate Art class chose a decade to select important events, things, or people to design, draw and paint. Art students also participated in DVL contest and attended the HCC art day.

Art I students work on their section of the mural.

Leigh Massey and Wendy Hamilton work on their paintings in the senior lounge.

Senior Showcase

Year-long project stresses seniors

The Senior Showcase is a year-long project that has the seniors choose an appropriate topic, write a 2500 word research paper, keep a time journal, perform a demonstration of knowledge, give a 20 minute oral presentation to a panel of judges, and work on various other forms and documents to complete the project. Each senior passed Senior Showcase, which is a requirement to graduate. Some of the topics included haunted houses, cake decorating, juvenile diabetes, female jazz musicians, and electrical engineering.

Kelly French works hard to put her camera together before giving her speech over photography.

Paige Smith and Christena Giffilan rehearse their speeches to each other.

What was the most stressful part of Senior Project?

"The whole Senior Project was stressful but mostly trying to get 20 minutes for my speech. It was hard not to procrastinate while trying to meet my deadlines. Overall, it was a huge learning experience, but I wouldn't go back and do it again."

~Melissa Boos

Kamron Winchester

Trouble Maker

"I am a trouble maker in class because class can sometimes get boring. I know it's hard to believe, but I like to spice it up sometimes."

Miranda Cluck

Home away from Home

A person's locker and backpack can often tell quite a bit about that person. Is he messy or neat? Does she like to snack? Forget or lose homework? Never take a book to class, or take everything just in case? No matter what the case may be, most students find that lockers and backpacks aren't only good for the usual books, paper, pens, and other school supplies—they are a home away from home.

What is the most interesting thing in your backpack?

Tiffany McNett
"The most interesting thing in my backpack is money and Pixi Stix."

LIFE IS A STAGE

The Stories of Scheherazade Directed by Michael Hill & Terri Stevens

PLAYING ALONG

A Shoulder

To Cry On Mariah, played by Paige Smith, comforts her distressed friend Amber, played by Samantha Keebler, after learning her gloomy fate as the King's wife.

There are Ears Everywhere Jonathan Collins as Leander and Amanda Dunn as Mara eavesdrop on deceitful plans to take over the kingdom.

Dance for Me

Disguised as "Blossom," Sterling Dorrell dances obediently for his demanding admirer, Skeeter, played by Eric Edie.

Right: A Menacing Threat Skeeter, played by Eric Edie, winces in pain as Nefario, played by Caley Dorrell silences his rambling with a wicked glare and a brutal twist of the arm.

Above: Discussing the Latest Bride R.C. Compton as Jorah and Sarah Handke as Lily devise a plan to put an end to King Raynah's foolish games.

Above: A Touching Moment Chelsey Fritch as Scheherazade and Eric Simmons as the Grand Vizier share a tender father-daughter moment as they face the reality of Scheherazade's decision to marry the king.

The Spring play "Murder in the Manor" was a murder-mystery dinner theatre in which the characters interacted with the audience. Before the end, all audience members filled out a "Whodunit" sheet, and whoever guessed the murderer won the grand prize. When the lights went out for the start of the show, Artemus, head of the family publishing business, was found dead with a knife in his back. Everyone in the house was, of course, a suspect. The question was, "Who did it?" There were many twists throughout the whole play. It was very tough to guess who the murderer was. The play consisted of one set with five scenes and two casts—one of understudies.

Sam Keebler as Dr. Toni Bullfinger questions the other house guests (understudy cast) about their whereabouts during the murder.

Chelsey Fritch as Gillicudy Boskovicz makes travel arrangements after poisoning Andrew Massey's character, Reginald Ward.

Julianne Gross (Eileen Morrow) and Amanda Dunn (Gillicudy Boskovicz) mingle with the audience.

Jessica Johnson as Jeannie Dell and Eric Simmons as Bernie Jones seemed guilty.

A new home means new traditions. This year's Homecoming was all about making new traditions. The week started off with traditional spirit week dress up days along with new advisory activities. On Thursday night a bonfire was set ablaze in the high school parking lot. Burn the Bears was the theme of this year's bonfire. Friday night was the big game against Oskaloosa with the crowning of the very first DWHS Homecoming King and Queen. The week's festivities ended with Friday night's "Picture Perfect" dance.

REMEMBERING THE GOOD TIMES

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE HOMECOMING MOMENT?

MAKING TRADITIONS

"The cheerleaders did a great job of combining traditions from both schools and creating a new Homecoming tradition. I thought it was a lot of fun and everyone got involved! A great way to start a new year!"

-Shelby Davis

GIRLS DOMINATE

"Not surprisingly the freshmen girls again demonstrated how much stronger they were by beating the freshmen boys in tug of war! The girls have always overpowered the boys and will continue to."

-Jennifer Larson

TRASH WORKS

"Our float represented our class well. It was easy to make and even easier to clean up. We'll never forget about the bird pooping on Morgan's arm."

-Jackie Gronniger & Whitney Elrod

FLAMING SPIRIT

"After spending so much time building it, I was glad to see it burn."

Lookin Adorable Juniors Wendy Hamilton and Leigh Massey get together for a cute pose during the Winter Royalty dance.

This year's Winter Crowning was all about putting old traditions together to start a new beginning. The week's activities included the always stylish dress up days and a pep rally. The pep rally, at which students enjoyed watching the candidates play entertaining games, pumped everyone up for that night's basketball games. The first ever Winter Royalty were crowned during halftime versus Horton. The "Winter Royalty" dance ended the week's activities and marked this year's Winter Crowning as one to remember.

A 20-foot Eiffel Tower was the centerpiece of the prom with the theme as Au Rendezvous in Au Paris. 123 students attended prom along with 20 teachers and board members. The room was lit up with over 2,000 lights along the Tower, the city, trees and gates. The music at the dance was well accepted although many were unhappy with the few selections of slow songs. After Prom wasn't all that the students expected, so many got bored and some just simply left. Games such as ping-pong, ring toss, sumo wrestling, scooter racing, Bingo, toilet-paper toss, casino games, card games, and a choice of watching a movie were the options the students had. Prizes included money, earrings, cologne, gift certificates, flashlights, hats, shirts, and sweatshirts. At the end of the night when students exited they received a $50 gift certificate to Wal-Mart.

Ready To Serve? Sarah Reiter, Katelynn Fitch, Ashton Lackey, Kassi Zeit, Alex Autem, Julianne Gross, Nicholas Dickerson, Morgan Twombly, Eric Edie, Bridget Glynn, and Chase Smith.

Clockwise: Daniel Kuhnert gives the senior response at dinner. Shane Harness, Megan Sheeley, Kole McCauley, Jacoby Watts, Kimberly Fuhrman and Leigh Massey dance to the "Cha Cha Slide." Because they were the first, the seniors chose to make the first senior sneak of Doniphan West a hit. Due to a small budget, the seniors chose to ride in school buses and make the "long journey" to Kansas City, MO and stay at the Great Wolf Lodge, where they enjoyed the water park, arcade games, a Royals' game, and eating out. From arguments about donuts to Speedo models, the first ever Doniphan West High School senior sneak definitely started out a new school's tradition with a bang.

The 2004 -
2005 school year is ONE that will be remembered forever in the hearts and minds of not only the students and faculty of Doniphan WEST, but the entire community. This year, as the long awaited contracting of USD 433 and USD
425 finally took place, Doniphan WEST High School was in the spotlight as curious bystanders observed the outcome of the contracting; it couldn't have gone better. New friends were made along with new traditions, clubs and classes.
Doniphan WEST has made its mark in history.
History that won't only affect the classes to follow but also the citizens of Doniphan County.
Nobody knew what quite to expect of the new school, but we will always remember the first year of D-WEST and we will never forget how the WEST was ONE.

The West Was One

The 2004-2005 Journalism Class presents volume I of Mustang Moments. The theme "How the West was Won" was chosen by the two journalism classes, and then they came up with ideas for the cover design. When the class visited the Jostens Publishing Plant in Topeka, graphic artist Dan Colburn put the ideas on paper and came up with the final design. The fonts used on the cover and division pages are AYT Genuine, AYT Darnell, and Catfish Script. The font for captions is AYT Clarence. Jostens Publishing Co., Topeka, published this 96 page book. This 7 3/4" x 10 1/2" volume was printed on Gloss 209 paper.
