Did you catch that?

As the everlasting question "Did you catch that?" lingers in the minds of all, people may wonder, "What am I supposed to catch?"

One should catch the pass that wins the game, catch the thought of achieving more, catch a glimpse of all the people, catch a grade that passes the test, catch the feeling all around, and catch the people that support our school.

If you can't catch anything else, at least try to catch a few memories that will last not only throughout the year, but throughout your life!

▲ Chris Frankens shows the determination that will help win the game!!

► Malinda Ballew works to catch the grade that will pass!!

Mr. Leatherman continued to be a familiar face to Midway students. As an experienced teacher, he has the ability to teach students the fundamentals of math...and them some. A few light incidents that occurred in class will be remembered by the students: Malinda Ballew had a good sense of humor "when Mr. Leatherman was making fun of all of my hair colors in class." Kelle Symms said that what she enjoyed most about Algebra class was teasing Chris Franken all the time. As any of Mr. Leatherman's students will tell you, "fun" is a part of "fundamentals".

STONE vs SCIENCE

The Science classes were enhanced this year when Mr. Stone added a new class, Human Anatomy, to the curriculum. This class covers subjects such as bones, muscles, and nutrition. There were six students who enrolled in the class this year, and most agreed that it was a positive addition to the schedule.

The traditional science classes taught by Mr. Stone included: Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and General Science, during which there have been some "interesting" moments. In Chemistry, Mr. Stone made a mistake on an experiment and blew up the lab. Well, not literally — but everyone had to run out of the classroom! In General Science, Corey Franken and Steve Helmstetter got in trouble for breaking cement blocks while looking for insects outside. Also, in Biology, a class pep rally was held, and Mr. Stone shared his cheer (Ei-Ei-Ei-O) with the class.

As one can tell, throughout the year Mr. Stone and his classes have had many adventures, not to mention much learning that went along with them!

▲ Aaron Jamvold works intently on an experiment in General Science.

▼ Colleen Callahan and Mr. Stone discuss the importance of Biology.

▲ Chris Franken and Mike Dodge discuss Physics.

Memories in Social Science!!

It's time for Mr. Ninemire's favorite classes. This year there were many funny, embarrassing, and strange moments during these hours. For example, during Federal Government, Tonya Rush asked, "Who was the first President?" Another common occurrence was listening to Eric Meredith entertain the class with his funny expressions.

Mr. Ninemire's favorite class to teach is American History. The juniors will always remember that most of the time, the only student who knew the answer to a question was Anders Warnhammar, the foreign exchange student.

During second semester there was a student teacher, Raymond A. Estenes, who started helping out during the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter. He commented, "I was quite comfortable with the school's size; it gave me opportunities I would not normally have at a larger school".

WRITE AWAY

▼ Josh Bennett and Aaron Jamvold work hard on their English Identity Books.

More writing? Basically, that is what English is all about — the ability to communicate through the written word. It seems that no one really "enjoys" English, but English I, II, III, and IV are required. Although a required course, memorable moments did occur. The funniest thing that happened in any English class this year would have to be in English IV when Ben Leatherman hid under the teacher's desk, and Miss Roberts didn't know it. Each time Ben made a noise, she turned around and looked at the wall, thinking the noise was coming from Mr. Stone's room. The students finally let her in on the joke.

Miss Roberts was also responsible for teaching two other classes this year: English Comp. I and II, and Publications. The Comp. I and II classes did not have separate class periods until second semester when student teacher Mrs. Twombly arrived. This allowed the senior class to be split up. Most of the work for the class was completed on the students' own time. Mrs. Twombly, student teacher from Benedictine, arrived at MHS in February to do her student teaching. She had experience teaching all five English classes, and encouraged the students to write well. She emphasized that writing may be hard, but you will use it all your life!

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

When the bell rings, everyone rushes to their Home Ec class. This year there were a lot of students who wanted to learn how to sew, to cook, and to manage food, but no one had to teach them how to eat it! Several memorable incidents occurred in Home-Ec classes; for example: Christy Wohletz put too much salt in her fruit pizza and it was too bad to even eat one bite. Andy Caudle and Chris Franken put yeast in Kristi Boos's cake mix, thinking it would be ruined, but it turned out better than theirs. Another moment was when Kellie Symms and Tammy Collins forgot to drain the grease from the hamburger before putting it into the lasagna recipe. The results were greasy, runny, and very bad! But through it all, with the help of Mrs. Roberts, the students did learn a lot, mostly of what NOT to do!

▲ Hopi Stone checks her hamburgers.

▲ Jody Pilcher fixes a good lunch.

▼ Andy Caudle and Chris Franken intently watch a movie.

Did You Make That?

This year's Industrial Arts classes had a new teacher, Mr. Juhl. Along with this new teacher came different things, such as jokes and stories told by the man himself. The students enjoyed most of the stories, almost as much as Mr. Juhl did!

The Industrial Arts curriculum is organized so that the freshmen take an Introduction to Technology class, which consists of the first semester of Home-Ec and the second semester of Industrial Arts, so the freshmen weren't in Mr. Juhl's classes all year long. When asked what his favorite class was, Mr. Juhl stated that it was a tie between Welding and Advanced Woods...until Kristi Boos and Malinda Ballew broke the planer in Advanced Woods!

▼ Working hard girls? Looks like it! Colleen Callahan, Shellie Ninemire, and Tonya Rush enjoy Business Applications.

Business Is Booming!

Mrs. Winchester has been the business teacher at Midway for 14 years. She not only teaches Typing, General Business, and Office Practice, but she teaches Accounting I and II, as well. Miss Bottom also spends time in the business room teaching Computers to high school and jr. high students.

One out of the many funny incidents that happened in the General Business class, according to Tara Rush, was when Christopher Denton leaned back in his chair and fell backwards right after Mrs. Winchester finished telling the class that the next person who leaned back would have to stand the rest of the hour!

Angie Ricklefs said that one of the funniest things in Business Law started when Chris Hoffman, Matt Matthias, and she began claiming that they had telepathic powers and could read everyone's minds.

WHAT DO YOU SEE?

▼ Mr. Dowell is busy handing out the next Psychology assignment.

▼ Colleen Callahan takes a break to smile. She doesn't want anyone to know that she actually does work!

In Psychology class, the students did many projects and experiments, one of which was an ink blot test, created by Rorschach. The purpose of ink blots is to figure out what is troubling someone after showing him or her the blots, and having the person describe what picture is in his or her mind. Audrey Caudle was sorry that she missed this project due to an absence; still, she said, "Psychology this year was different than we all expected, but was fun and we learned a lot about ourselves and why we act the way we do."

▲ Angie Leatherman laughs while looking through her Psychology test questions.

◀ Cool pictures! These are the results of the class project on ink blots. What do you see?

Physical Fitness

A required class for the freshmen, Physical Education and Health are combined into one. The freshmen have P.E. the first and last quarters and they take Health the second and third quarters. In P.E. they play games, take physical fitness tests, and stay in shape. During Health the Freshmen learn not only how to keep in shape, but they also learn the effects of drugs and alcohol, and how to eat right. The class listened to speakers about drugs and alcohol, and also visited the prison at Cameron, Missouri to hear what the prisoners had to say about staying straight.

Mr. Martin had a larger Advanced P.E. class this year, so they were able to do more things, and have some fun while they were staying fit. Jason Grider, an Advanced P.E. student, said one of the funniest things that happened in P.E. was when Eric Meredith threw Marcus Owens down on the floor. Of course, this was all done in fun...but maybe Markus didn't think so!

▲ While enjoying a basketball game, Mr. Kincaid pauses to conduct a short song.

▲ The Midway School Band members performed very well this year, with the large number putting out quality effort.

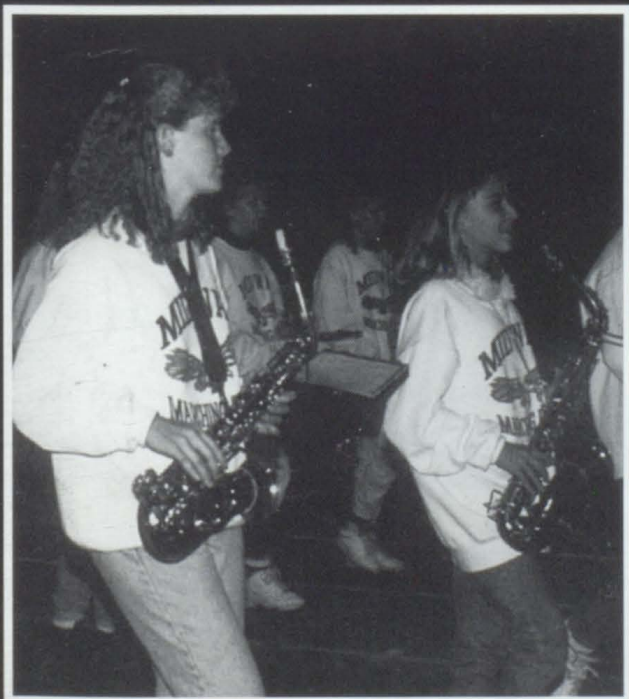

◀ The Pep Band members give their time and energy to support our teams at basketball games.

Did You Play In That?

Pep Band, concerts, contests, and class are all a part of being involved in the school band. This year, a new teacher, Mr. Clint Kincaid, joined the Midway staff. With a larger number of students, and a lot of talent out of the teacher, students, and community members, the band sounded better than it had in years.

The class schedule did not permit many students to participate in band that would have liked to; still, those who did enroll in the class really improved their skills. They also had a lot of fun — not only at games and contests, but in class as well. One of the funniest things that Matt Keys remembers was when Mr. Kincaid walked into class with his zipper still down! There were only five high school members in the band, but Mr. Kincaid has high hopes for the future. He is working on building the music program at MHS, and if this year was any indication, he should reach his goals.

▲ Josh Bennett and Christy Wohletz participate in French.

▲ Eric Thompson and Michelle Boos talk to Mrs. Moore about Spanish.

▼ Matt Matthias and Audrey Caudle look over their French test.

Francais and Espanol

Midway had two new Foreign Language teachers join the staff in '92-'93: Ms. Geisen-French; Mrs. Moore-Spanish. It was taught by satellite. So not only was the program improved by adding classroom teachers, but French was also added to the curriculum.

There were some interesting moments that occurred in these classes: In Spanish II, Mrs. Moore asked Mark Helmstetter to get a paper stretcher for her. So, Mark went looking for it in the office, in other teacher's classrooms, and, having no luck, finally went back to the Spanish room. He was greeted by smiling faces; by then he realized that there was no such thing as a paper stretcher!

Also, in French, Hopi Stone mispronounced a word and ended up calling someone an offensive name! Although learning a foreign tongue is difficult, the trials of learning a new language often lead to comical experiences.

Alternative Choices

This year at Midway High School, three students took advantage of their alternative choices. Seniors Ben Leatherman and Mike Libel attended Vo-tech with junior Tim Christopher. This was the first year that a junior had been allowed to attend Vo-tech. Tim approached the School Board and was given permission to enroll.

Ben studied Industrial Electrical Technology, and said, "It's very difficult work, but I have learned a lot." Mike and Tim both took Diesel Mechanics, and enjoyed the hands-on work. These students were given a chance to learn outside of MHS, and took advantage of this opportunity.

CHAT! CHAT! CHAT!

Speech, a new class added to the curriculum this year, was a big hit. The class was taught by Miss Geisen, who assigned the students to give demonstrative, informative, and persuasive speeches, among others. Speech class gave Midway students the opportunity to improve their communication skills.

One of the funniest incidents that happened in this class was with Matt Keys. "It was so embarrassing when I didn't know what a 'blackboard' was," Matt said. Instead of discussing a chalkboard that is in a classroom, he talked about a board that was colored black!

A funny speech that was given in Speech class was Audrey Caudle's speech about Faithful Friends. Her topic was on DIAPERS for the elderly.

Yes, many humorous speeches came out of Speech class, but so did well-organized, highly interesting ones. Whether the presentations were comical or serious, the communication skills learned in Speech will definitely benefit the students of Midway.

◀ Kellie Symms turns around to chat with a fellow classmate, while Tammy Collins and Tara Rush work on their speeches.

Taking Action

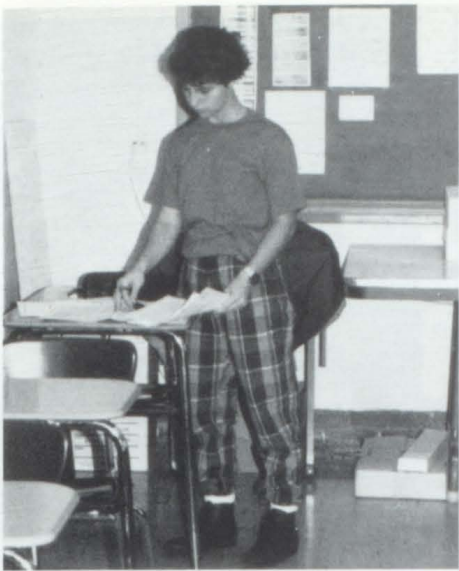

Of the many things discussed in the Stuco meetings this year, one of the main things was the dress code. Stuco was allowed to change this a little: the amount of time students got to wear shorts was extended to all year long for the high school. This pleased the student body, especially the girls.

Also, another topic of concern was Spirit Week. The new principal this year, Mr. Moore, thought that there was no need in decorating the halls for Spirit Week. But Stuco stepped in and talked him into letting classes decorate anyway, with a few new rules, such as a shortened amount of time outside of class to decorate.

For Christmas Stuco made food and fruit baskets for the less fortunate people and the senior citizens in the community. Stuco also fulfilled its duty of supplying a D.J. for Homecoming and Snowball dances.

▲ Trina is very busy working on her deadlines for the yearbook.

▲ Kevin Garber from Taylor Publishing travels to Midway to help the Publications class and Miss Roberts make decisions on the yearbook.

Deadlines... Deadlines... Deadlines!!

Stories, pictures, and deadlines! This is what Publications class is all about. This year the yearbook staff consisted of only five students: Michelle Boos, Trina Frump, Jody Pilcher, Angie Ricklefs, and Tara Rush, with Miss Roberts as our advisor. Each girl had many deadlines to meet to get all of the pages covered. Being used to having ten people in class, duties doubled. We tried to make the yearbook more interesting and memorable for the students by including surveys, more pictures, and memorable moments.

For each deadline, we have to write a story, take pictures, make a layout, and enter all of the information into the computer. Students enrolled in the class also are responsible for writing the Midway School News in the local newspapers. Publications class is not easy, but we feel that getting involved in the yearbook gets us involved in the school.

Did You Study That?

During the 1992-93 Quiz Bowl Season, Midway High School did very well. At the Highland meet the team was the top 1-A team there. When the team traveled to Washburn for the High Q meet, the team received the highest points ever. The team was better this year than it had been in the past few years because there was more enthusiasm to go out for the team and to go to all the Thursday morning practices.

Midway hosted a Quiz Bowl at M.H.S. on March 16, which consisted of the Doniphan County Schools. This was the first time that M.H.S. hosted a meet since Mr. Stone had been sponsor; this was his seventh year to sponsor Quiz Bowl.

The members of the team included: A. Arnold, J. Bennett, C. Callahan, A. Caudle, C. Denton, M. Helmstetter, A. Leatherman, M. Matthias, S. Ninemire, M. Purmort, Tara Rush, Toby Rush, H. Stone and K. Symns.

M-Club is back. The M-Club was started back up at M.H.S.. It's a letterman's club for anyone who has ever lettered in a sport or as a manager. The M-Club is based on helping the community, since the community always helps support M.H.S. athletics.

One of the things planned this year was to adopt a highway in the spring. They also painted the football bleachers, and organized a "strictly for fun" Volleyball Tournament. With the money they made, the M-Club returned the favor by awarding the people in the community on Awards Night.

The cheerleading squad of '92-93 faced many problems. The first concern was, "Who is our sponsor?" The second was, "Who are the cheerleaders?" And last, but not least-uniforms. At the end of the '91-92 season, there were 6 cheerleaders who signed up to try-out again. With conflicts during the summer, two of the girls decided to quit.

After school began in the Fall, a sponsor was found on the third day of school: Jennifer Halling. She and (at this time) 4 cheerleaders were practicing hard for the upcoming football games. Conflicts with work resulted in another cheerleader loss, resulting in one of the smallest squads Midway has had for a long time.

Even through all of these troubles, the three remaining cheerleaders did an excellent job of keeping spirits high throughout the rest of the season, despite its small size.

If You Can't Run...

Memories are the only things that are going to remain after high school; this is no exception for the 1993 senior class.

Going into junior high, in sixth grade, they had the laughing experience of Mrs. Symns asking, "Who hung the underwear on the bulletin board?" and Eric Meredith replied, "I thought someone would claim them." Junior High was a wild and crazy time for this class. Mr. Miller once gave everyone in the class a referral. Then the whole class went to the principal's office to cancel them.

During High School the class that always stuck together got pulled apart. Everyone had different classes, and their "leader", Chad Pierce, had transferred to a different school. But decorating for Prom their Junior year really brought them together. They cooperated and had a lot of fun decorating. The big disappointment in high school was the loss of the State football game their senior year.

High School brought many changes for the Senior class, but this will be one class to stick together and remain friends forever.

JUNIORS

The 1992 Junior Class has been through a lot together the past three years: passing tests, failing tests, good times, bad times. Despite everything, they still hang on. Concerning the initiation issue, they think that every freshman class should go through initiation. When the juniors become seniors they don't want to miss the opportunity to initiate the freshmen!

With many varsity athletes and outstanding academic students, the juniors are a class that sticks together:

"The JUNIOR Class"

A group of eight girls and eight boys on a list

That goes a little something like this: Malinda, Andy, Kristin, Ryan, Tammy, Mike, Chris, and Shellie Matthew, Tim, Trina, Markus, Jody, Ricky, Hopi, and Kellie.

Some things we've done will never be "forgot"

Along with the lessons that were taught.

Like the time the substitute teacher left in tears And hasn't been back for the last three years.

Eighth grade graduation finally came

And they proudly called out each of our names.

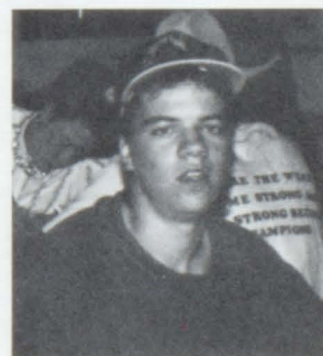

Freshman initiation was pretty bad And when it was over, we were glad. Now we're juniors and we're simply the best

No class is better. No one can pass our test.

And soon the time will come When the beat will be to OUR drum And everyone will see that no other class can soar

Quite as high as the class of ninety-four.

A Unique Class

Members of the sophomore class seemed to come and go this year. They started out with seventeen students, but after Jeff Carpenter and Jennifer Rhyne moved, they had fifteen. Despite the entering and exiting of students, the class continued to get along well, even with all the very unique personalities. To explain more fully how the class got along, Audrey Caudle wrote this poem:

*The closest class at Midway High
We are very honest and never lie
Our friendship is too great to* die

The closest class at Midway High.

The funnest class at Midway High

*At our parties we never sigh

YOU KNOW YOU'RE A SENIOR WHEN...

... You don't have any time for yourself.

... The only mail you get is information on college.

... Other people's opinions don't matter.

... The only thing you do every day is count the number of days left in school.

... Weekend plans include only your term paper.

... Before Christmas you have "Spring Fever".

... Everyone wants money from you, and you don't know where the money's going to come from.

... Everyone wants to know, "What are your plans for next year?"

... Cafeteria food is the best meal of the day, and most days the only meal.

... Days go by like hours used to.

... You actually care if you pass a test.

... You need money, and your parents won't give it to you anymore.

... You tell your parents you're moving out, but you don't say when.

... The only sleep you get is in class.

... You know every excuse in the book, and every day you're inventing more.

... You get out of school early, and spend the time making up tardies and detention.

... Everyone in school, including people you never talk to, want a picture of you.

... Your future depends on every decision you make.

... You actually think you will miss the most obnoxious, annoying person in your class.

... The only date you have memorized is May 24, 1993

THE YOUNG AND INEXPERIENCED

The 1992-93 Volleyball team had a record of 3-17, winning against DeKalb, St. Mary's and Kickapoo. Coach Ninemire and the team faced some problems with players not going to practice and with almost everyone on the team being young and inexperienced; Michelle Boos was the only senior on the team. Next year's volleyball team will still be young, but not so inexperienced. Audrey Caudle offered words of optimism: "Overall, we are looking forward to next year."

“Even though our team wasn’t the greatest we still had a lot of fun throughout the season,” said Shellie Ninemire.

“It was a learning experience. Because of their youth and inexperience, the team will do better next year,” said Coach Ninemire.

“As the season progressed we started having more fun and that seemed to make us work harder,” stated Audrey Caudle.

Back to the Killing Field

It's 1992, the Midway Eagles Football Team travelled to Hays, Kansas for their final game. State Playoffs. The Eagles played the Claflin Wildcats for the state title and fell to the Wildcats with the score of 0-44. The Eagles, relying on their quickness, had the disadvantage for the field was slippery. It had snowed the day before, making the field so muddy that the Eagles couldn't get any traction.

Despite the turnout at State, the Eagles had a positive attitude throughout the season and reached and accomplished many team goals. The Eagles again made a name for their team by having such a closely binded group of players. Coach Martin ended the season by saying that the seniors have "shown improvement not only in skills but in leadership too. It was a fun team to coach because of their loyalty and their attitudes for the game." The final record for the 1992 season was 10-2.

"Now boys, play hard, play as a team, and make it to Sub-State." As it turned out, the boys basketball team did all of the above. This year was a great success for the Midway basketball team. They went further than previous boys basketball teams by qualifying for Sub-State, and taking home the runner-up trophy. The team members showed that they were definitely "takin' care of business".

This year success turned a previous record of 4-17 to a winning record of 16-9. With more leadership and experience, the team met with great success. With a larger number of players, there were three teams formed: an A-team, a B-team, and a C-team. Although divided in this way, all the teams pulled together as one to succeed both on and off the court.

Coach Leatherman commented, "All of the teams did real well and I thought they improved a lot during the year. The teams supported each other pretty well too. I was glad we got to play C games so everyone could get more playing time."

Believe and Achieve

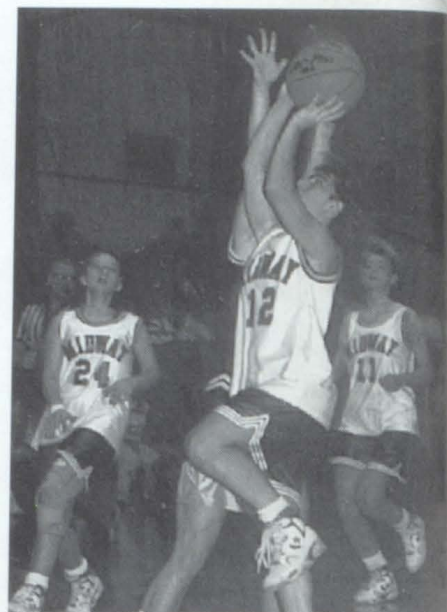

"It's 5:15 a.m. girls. Wake-up! Hurry, you need to go to basketball practice." This was the typical morning for members of the Midway girl's basketball team, whose practices were scheduled in the early morning hours this year, as opposed to last year's alternating morning/evening hours. Most of the girls liked the consistency of the practice times, but it was often tempting to hit that snooze button! Still, the team woke up and got it all together to reach their goals.

The goal for the season was to improve each time the team stepped on the court. With hard work, dedication, and believing in themselves, the team achieved their season goal, and finished the season with a record of 10-11. Not only did they have a season goal, but the team set individual and team goals for each game and practice.

Coach Bottom had good things to say about the season: "As we began the season, we were faced with a lack of experience... only one senior, and only two returning starters. But these eleven girls worked harder and gave more of themselves than even imaginable... and great things began to happen. After 42 practices and 21 games, plus a lot of blood, sweat, and tears (and hopefully a tremendous amount of fun), these girls showed what Midway basketball is all about... 100% Determination and a great TEAM effort! Tonya's leadership will be greatly missed by everyone... but this bunch of girls has a bright future lying ahead!"

Tonya Rush, the only senior on the team, commented: "I enjoyed my senior year and all the happy times, including all of the morning practices!" She will always remember Coach Bottom kicking the chair, busting Liz in the jaw, and Tara being a ballerina. "I hope next year they have a successful season. Good luck to the team, and of course, beat Highland!"

Shellie Ninemire commented, "I had a lot of fun and really enjoyed having morning practice every morning. Yeah, right!"

Girls Track

Audrey Caudle stated, "With 3 people it was better because we could get along and be more like a team who cared how each other did."

This year's track team had a lot of changes during the season. For example, at the beginning of the season, there were six people out for the sport. For different reasons, three quit. That left the remaining three girls, Audrey Caudle, Shellie Ninemire, and Tara Rush, to finish the season. And they all did a great job!

Boys Track

This year the boys track team did exceptionally well, keeping the fans pleased and excelling themselves to great limits. The guys also managed to break a couple school records in the process. Eric Meredith broke the triple jump record, and E. Meredith, B. Leatherman, M. Dodge, and R. Anderson broke the 3200m relay record.

The team placed very high in all the track meets they participated in, and five students went on to compete at the state level: Christopher Denton, Eric Meredith, Ben Leatherman, Mike Dodge, and Ryan Anderson. Denton received second place in the 3200M run. Meredith, Leatherman, Dodge, and Anderson placed third in the 3200m relay. With perseverance, the boys track team had a great season.

"It was exciting because we had a pretty good team, and everybody seemed to work pretty hard," stated Ben Leatherman.

Running With The Wind

Mr. Leatherman, high school cross country coach for the 1992-93 season, was pleased with his runners' efforts: "Those that were out for cross country this year did well. They showed improvement throughout the year." Mr. Leatherman also stated that he wished more people would go out for cross country.

The boys cross country team, three individuals, consisted of Christopher Denton, Adam Arnold, and Josh Bennett. The boys run 5 kilometers or 3.1 miles for a cross country race. The two football boys, Adam Arnold and Josh Bennett, had very few conflicts concerning going to cross country meets or football practice; but if conflicts arose they were resolved by letting the individuals choose to go to football or cross country.

The girls cross country team of four individuals was just shy of a true cross country "team". There needs to be 5, 6, or 7 members to make up a team. The girls' team, which consisted of Malinda Ballew, Kristi Boos, Audrey Caudle, and Christy Wohletz did really well this year. For the girls a cross country run is two miles, which is shorter compared to the boys' three miles.

Out of the seven members on the whole cross country team only one went to state. After Christopher Denton, a sophomore, took first in regionals, he stated that it was a big confidence builder for state and next year. Out of approximately 100 people who ran at the state meet, Christopher Denton placed eighth with a time of 17:54.

Student Life

Did you sign that?

Another year goes by, and students wonder, "What should I sign?" As the students walked into the yearbook signing party on Friday, September 11 in the high school cafeteria, Mr. Moore handed them ice cream that was furnished by the Booster Club. While enjoying their ice cream, students excitedly wrote in others' yearbooks.

The turn out for the event was about half the student body, which was not the best for various reasons: students attended other schools' football games, they had other plans (since it was a Friday night), or the occasional sick person was home in bed. All in all, the people who attended the yearbook signing party enjoyed the time they had to record memories with their words.

◀ Melissa McAfee and Angie Ricklefs concentrate hard on what to sign.

▼ Toby Rush wonders, "Why do I even bother with this mess?"

▲ Eric Thompson, Markus Owens, Mike Libel, and Mike Dodge all tell Mr. Moore what kind of ice cream they would like.

There were some things that were different about spirit week this year. For instance, the seniors couldn't boss the freshmen around, but they could still choose what they wore for the week!

The freshmen had to dress up in formals on Monday; Tuesday they dressed with their clothes worn inside out/backwards; Wednesday they dressed as Indians; Thursday was opposite sex day where the seniors provided the outfits, and Friday was red, white, and blue day.

Meanwhile, the upperclassmen had grub/t-shirt signing day, toga day, western day, dress as teacher/hat and glasses day, and red, white, and blue day.

The senior class won hall decorations with a theme of "Indian Roadkill Cafe". Some of the things on their menu included Moose ala Papoose, Chicken Fingers and Tontos, Chicken Potawatomie Pie, Sioux Stew, Chickasaw Slaw, Kickapoo Fondue, and Natchez Nachos with Apacheese. The juniors got second place by turning the lobby into outer space; their theme was "The Eagle Has Landed". The sophomores got third place with a theme of "Recycling Center U.S.A." and the freshmen received fourth with a theme of "Tee-pee the Indians."

The games played during spirit week included board races and scooter races (which were very exciting because you had to use plungers to move yourself down the hall and there was a lot of cheating!) Students and faculty also engaged in a tug-of-war, and the four legged races. Kristi Boos's favorite game was the four legged raced; she said, "Even though we didn't win, we had fun."

Did You See That?

After a spirited week of hall decorating, dressing up, and excitement, everyone was ready for the big Homecoming game! The time had arrived. The Eagles kicked off the football game against the Bern Indians at 7:30 p.m. on October 9. The Eagles won the game with the score being 36 to 6.

During halftime of the game, the 1992 King and Queen were crowned. This year's King was Toby Rush, and the Queen was Michelle Boos. The other candidates were Angie Ricklefs escorted by Mike Libel, and Tonya Rush escorted by Brandon Crockett. The crown bearer was Garett Miller, and the flower girl was Melissa Boos.

Queen Michelle Boos commented, "I was honored to have won such a distinguished award; it felt good to know I was selected by the student body."

The dance following the game was put on by the Muzik Man. The dance was a big success, as was the game.

Pre — prom Juniors Way

Will everyone help? Will they get it done in time? These are just a few questions that the junior class was asking in preparation for the 1993 Prom. Yes, the Juniors got done in time and they didn't have to stay too long after school. Yes, everyone helped; a big surprise to the junior class. For Prom, the juniors decided to decorate just half of the gym and leave the rest for dancing. This year's theme was difficult to decide on; the two main theme ideas that the juniors had were a western theme and a city theme. After all the decision making was done, they decided on the city theme.

There were 13 buildings to build with corrugated paper and cardboard. Also, the juniors had a water fountain which gave the juniors a lot of problems due to leaking. But finally they got the fountain fixed in time to put goldfish in it before the prom. As usual, with the juniors doing it their way, everything turned out just fine!

MAGIC IN THE...

Everyone went to the city under the moon on May 1, 1993. The juniors selected "Magic In The Moonlight" for the junior-senior prom theme. The multi-purpose room was decorated with large irradant cardboard buildings. The entryway was a black and white balloon archway; in the middle of the room was a water fountain which contained gold fish.

Pictures were taken by McBee Photography from 6:00 to 7:00 before the dinner began. After pictures, Hopi Stone welcomed everyone, followed by the response given by Jason Grider. After Kellie Symns gave the invocation, dinner was served. For dinner, those attending Prom enjoyed filet mignon, baked potatoes, corn, rolls, and lettuce salad; for dessert, dirt cake was served.

After dinner, the program continued. Wills were read by Jason Grider and Mark Helmstetter, followed by Mike Dodge reading the prophecies. Everyone seemed to have fun listening to these!

After the program, the dance was held. Instead of having a band this year, the juniors contacted Disc. Jockeys, Inc. to supply the music. The dance lasted until midnight and was enjoyed by most everyone. The after-prom party followed at the Atchison YMCA, and Midway had almost one hundred percent of the high school students that attended Prom attend the after-prom party.

SENIOR WILLS

I, Michelle Boos, being of a very opinionated mind and alluring body, do hereby state my last will and testament.

To my sister Kristi Boos, the ability to stay out of trouble and if you get into it, not to come home. Also, the ability to clean your room before you go out.

To Eric Meredith, the ability to be the only three year old adult.

To my best friend Angie Ricklefs, the ability to have fun at parties, since you don't already know how to, that way you won't have to be escorted out.

And to my favorite guy Ben Leatherman, a truthful and dedicated girlfriend to go out with until all hours of the night without your dad finding out about it!

I, Jason Grider, of sound mind and sounder body hereby will the following:

To Mark Helmstetter, his own teacher's aid and golf lessons.

To Tonya Rush, myself and the ability not to "oops" in Math class.

To Eric Meredith, a hunters safety course so he can distinguish between humans and wild game.

To Mike Libel, a haircut once a year whether he needs it or not.

I, Mark Helmstetter, being of superior mind and Oh-My-God-look-at-that body, hereby will the following:

To the Midway Boys Basketball and Track teams, the ability to go out for a sport and not to complain about it.

To future Spanish classes, a male teacher.

To the P.E. class, my dominant golf swings.

To Midway and mainly the Senior class, have a good life and I'll see ya when I see ya!

I, Ben Leatherman, being of no mind and a very athletically fit body, hereby will the following:

To Eric Meredith, a new passenger door, the ability not to get busted, and also the ability to pass five classes.

To Ricky Smith, a new Dodge, spray paint, more camping trips, and all of my charm and athletic abilities.

To Mr. Ninemire, Clorets to override the coffee odor.

And last but not least, to my father, another track star and a decathlete such as myself.

I, Eric Meredith, being of studly athletic body and very intelligent. . . , well nevermind, do hereby will the following:

To Toby Rush, an uninflatable ego, and the ability not to crash another car.

To Ben Leatherman, another memorable Halloween and the ability to stay away from trailer houses.

To Melissa McAfee, the ability to make it through high school without my guidance and not to be grounded three out of four weekends.

To Mr. Moore, the ability to not exercise the authority that he thinks he has.

I, Angie Ricklefs, being of mysterious and deceitful mind and more deceitful body hereby will the following:

To my favorite cuz, Eric Meredith, the ability to have another birthday party and a can of canned air.

To my partner in crime, Michelle Boos, a roll of toilet paper, a raccoon for her very own burial, and a bottle to hit Brent over the head with.

To my Jody woman, the ability to buy the unwreckable car, and to be able to pass up a cemetery.

To Ryan Anderson, his very own panda bear and a parole officer of his very own.

I, Toby Rush, being of overworked mind and under fed body, do hereby will the following:

To Mark Helmstetter, I will a fire-fight in a platoon of 52 women, and many right turns on red lights.

To Eric Meredith, I will a pet rock, so he will never be lonely.

To next year's basketball team, more snap drills and by-golly-gee-whizzes.

And to Mr. Moore, I will a new laugh, and a life.

I, Tonya Rush, of a gullible mind, will the following:

To Mark Helmstetter, the ability not to be humbled at ROTC by a woman.

To Toby Rush, another sister as kind as I am, to be able to smooth on women not taken and to know that the Wed Wabbit Still Wuns Aaround The Wed Bawn.

To the class of '93, the ability to become what many teachers thought we were incapable of becoming.

SENIOR PROPHECIES

MICHELLE BOOS — After partying at Highland Community College for two years and losing all her scholarships, she opens her own beauty salon with her own line of hair products. While working at her beauty and tanning salon, Michelle gains 100 pounds and fake bakes so much she becomes a leather billfold.

JASON GRIDER — Jason completes his football career and finally marries Tonya. He goes on to build the greatest 8-man football dynasty ever witnessed by Mr. Martin or Mr. Juhl. He can now be found working for the state making orange caution cones.

MARK HELMSTETTER — Mark graduates from KU, but is injured in basic training. Alas, he is rescued by a WOMAN!!! While recovering from his injury (with the aide of his rescuer), Mark watches the Bills' 10th consecutive loss in the Super Bowl. After recovering from his deep depression, Mark goes to live on a "52" acre Chihuahua farm with "52" Chihuahuas. For a little extra money, Mark is found cooking egg rolls to help pay for the broken windows he creates when playing golf.

BEN LEATHERMAN — After graduation, Ben becomes an apprentice to an electrician. Later he opens his own business called Ben and Sons and Sons and Sons and Sons Electrical Service. After five years in this business, he was put in prison for polygamy . . . at last count he had at least six wives. At the age of 70, he was still found cruising Troy.

MIKE LIBEL — At the age of 40, Mike was finally fired from McDonalds. Mike retaliates by opening a new franchise called Mike Donalds which has incorporated "the Rusty Arches". On weekends he is still trying to make up hours at Vo-Tech so he can reach his life-time goal . . . opening his own Do-It-All Diesel Shop.

BRAD MCNETT — After holding the title of the National Hot Rod Association Crashin' Derby Champ for the last 25 years, Brad rides his Harley across the great United States in search for the perfect mushroom. He was last seen at the Caudle homestead doing the usual . . . COMPLAINING!!!

ERIC MEREDITH — After killing four wives in hunting accidents, Eric moves to Atlanta where he opens up a gun and knife shop. In his spare time he gives free Hunters' Safety Courses and CPR training to all hunting companions.

ANGIE RICKLEFS — After graduating from Highland Community College in a mere four years, Angle attempts to complete a degree in accounting. Upon the breaking of her 3 inch fingernail on her calculator, she decides that accounting is much too stressful and she rushes back to Severance. As a form of new found therapy she can be found rewriting the song "A Whole Lot of Shaking Goin' On", which she has dedicated to her high school buddy, Ryan Anderson.

TOBY (OR TOBIAS) RUSH — After flunking out of K-State's Engineering Program, Toby moves back to Severance where he takes over the Doniphan County Trash Service. He can be found wrecking marriages, as well as garbage trucks, motorcycles, cars, trucks, vans, motor scooters, bicycles, tricycles, Big Wheels, and Hot Wheels along the way.

TONYA RUSH — After completing her nursing program, Tonya marries Jason and takes care of Jason, his football team, and their thirty children. She later becomes world famous for the perfection of the "Jason Do".

DALLAS SALLEE — "Dallas packed his suitcase and drove off in the . . ." orange Chevy his dad bought him. (Sounds like a country song to me!) He goes off to Washington, D.C. where he becomes a professional computer hacker for the United States Government.

RICHARD SCHAUMBURG — After high school, Richard begins a rigorous weight-lifting program and becomes the greatest decathlete the world has ever seen. You can still see him along highway 20 trying to start his ol' Corolla.

SENIORS SNEAKIN'

On Thursday, May 13, 1993, the senior students left at 6:00 a.m. from Midway High School for the Lake of the Ozarks. The students stayed at the traditional Kalfran Lodge. There were many activities to participate in, some of which included bumper cars, go-carts, jet skiing, and swimming. While the seniors were at the Ozarks, they decided to show off a little of their daring sides. Most of the boys chose to do this by bungee jumping, while the girls decided they would rather go para-sailing. As a group the class went jet skiing and saw a show at the Main Street Opry.

To spend some of the seniors well-earned money, they decided to go shopping at Osage Village and Dog Patch. Some of the boys decided to gang up on the girls by purchasing water guns at a local toy store. Little did they know, the girls would retaliate with cans of pop!

After all the fun and good times, the seniors, along with class sponsors Mr. Leatherman and Mr. Ninemire, headed home on Sunday morning, May 16th, and had the rest of the afternoon to recover before going back to school the next morning!

▲ Mark Helmstetter and his "laid back" look!

Boosters

MHS Supporters

The 1993 Booster Club and PTO were greatly appreciated once again. The Booster Club stayed behind our sports teams with great support. Booster Club members, during both the football and basketball seasons, personally delivered balloons to the boys. The Midway Boosters sponsored a chili-soup supper and a hotdog roast during the football season, which also attracted new members. They also sponsored a fish/chicken fry in the spring to raise money for the club. The Midway Booster Club is a very important organization that we all can rely on. Thanks for everything Boosters!!

The PTO, Parent Teacher Organization, was also very active. Its main project was raising money for the Baseball Light Fund. They sponsored a Haunted House, a Talent Show, a Volleyball tournament, and a Roller Skating party with all the proceeds going into the Baseball Light fund. The PTO sponsored swimming lessons and established a scholarship for a graduating senior. PTO members also donated food items and other things for banquets, programs, and parties throughout the year. PTO's efforts also deserve a big "Thanks!"

Yeah, We Caught It!

▼ Tim Christopher caught hold of the opportunity to go to Vo-Tech part time this year.

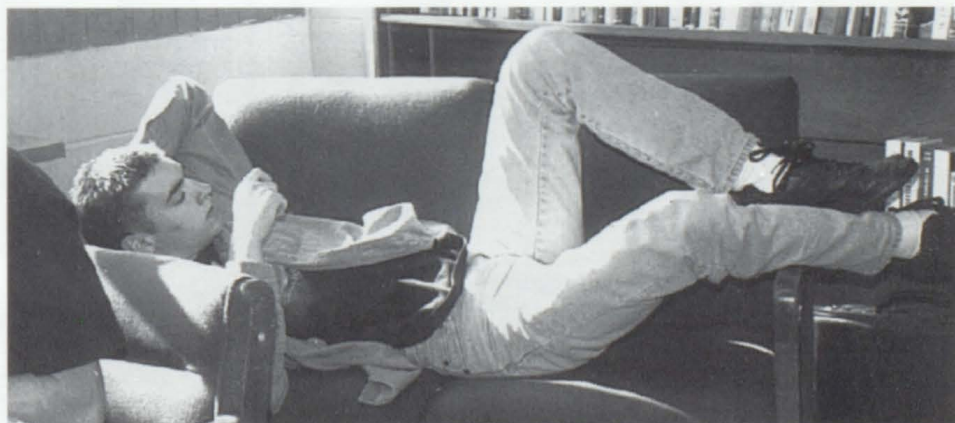

The students, faculty, staff and boosters of MHS caught many things by which to remember this year: they caught and sparked an old flame by starting M-Club again; they caught that feeling of going to State again in football, and taking home a Runner-up trophy; they grabbed the Sub-State Boys Runner-up trophy in basketball; school records in track were also broken by track team members; students caught the first place trophy at the Doniphan County Quiz Bowl Meet; many honors and awards were seized by a number of students on Awards Night and throughout the year; and everyone seemed to catch a really good time at the big dance of the year, Prom. These are only a few things that were caught by all involved with Midway High School, but each person has his or her own special memories that were caught this year. So the next time someone asks, "Did you catch that?", the only natural response should be, "Yeah, I caught it!"
