Dedication

MR. DALE WHITESIDE

After six years of staring at pictures of all shapes and descriptions, wracking the brain for new ideas for placing those same pictures on pages, and trying to revive past literary talents to help the copy editors, Mr. Whiteside deserves a rest. Since he is passing on the camera, the pen, the typewriter, and the deadlines, we have placed him on a page of his own in order to say "thank you" for his effort in our behalf during the last six years, and to say, "Mr. Whiteside, we the Trojan staff, do hereby dedicate our 1965-1966 Trojan to you."

Foreword

As another episode in our lives here at Troy High draws to a close, we reminisce with fond memories, the times we have spent with our friends, teachers, and classmates. All of these together have made a memorable year for all of us.

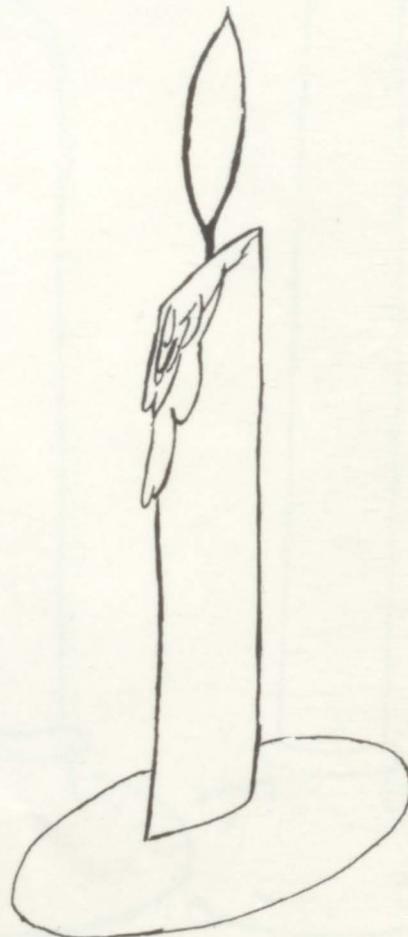

We on the '66 Trojan Staff have tried to compile these memories into a yearbook that will be cherished by you in the years to come, even after our never-to-be-forgotten years at THS are completed.

I would like to sincerely thank my capable staff, the sponsors, Miss Russell and Mr. Whiteside, and the student body, for all that they have contributed, so that this yearbook might be one of the best that has ever been printed.

Principal's Message

To most people the senior year is the happiest, yet the saddest year of their formal education period. We hope that the years at Troy High will not be the end of a learning experience, but an intermediate step to bigger and better things.

It is my wish that each of you would continue your education, not necessarily college, but trade or vocational school. It is a well-known fact that the better you prepare yourself, the more successful you will be.

I wish each of you the best of success in whatever you do.

Helpers Behind the Scene

Never being noticed a lot, but always important to the smooth functioning of our school, are the cooks, custodians, and bus drivers.

Punctuality is their goal. The student body never realizes how much time and effort is spent preparing a wholesome, balanced meal for them every day, but our meals are always ready for us at 12:14, without fail. The bus drivers and custodians must keep the buses in good running order, keep them clean, and be there to pick up students each morning and deposit them at home each afternoon.

May we, the student body, take this opportunity to say "thank-you" for all that they do for us, that we take so much for granted.

Our cooks, Mrs. Mildred Wasson and Mrs. Eva Saltzman, are assisted by Mary R. Clark, Merlina Watkins, and Donna Turpin.

CUSTODIANS

Bill Kanning and Dick Larzelere

BUS DRIVERS

Bill Kanning, Lyle Yingling, William Dawe, Alfred Monroe, and Dick Larzelere.

Chapter 3 THE BEGINNINGS OF THE GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES

The roots of American government reach deep into the past. The form of government that we now enjoy was formed by the struggle and fusion of all the various political institutions of the past. The form of government that we now enjoy is a product of the past.

The Colonial Period

Our English Heritage. The French, Spanish, Dutch, Norwegian and other European nations in what was to become the United States. But it was the English who came in the largest numbers. And it was the English who came to govern the thirteen colonies. They were the first to settle along the Atlantic coast.

They brought with them the ideas of the English government of the time. They brought with them the ideas of the English government of the time.

LETTERS AT WORK

Early Americans had to be better educated, or they could not govern. This was called the beginning of our government today. that each man has certain rights that government cannot injure or take away. These great principles of freedom were proclaimed in such historic English documents as the Magna Carta in 1215, the Petition of Right in 1628 and the Bill of Rights and the Act of Federation of 1689.

121 The concept of Representative Government. A third vitally important concept brought to America in English origin was that of representative government. For centuries there had been developing in England the

Homecoming
Royalty

PRINCESS JANET GUIER

PRINCESS JOAN CHASE

Highlighting the Homecoming celebration was the crowning of the Queen and her attendants. After the game with Wathena, amid "Autumn Leaves", Janette Kanning reigned as Queen of the Homecoming court. To the music of the Squires, visiting Wildcats and Trojans danced until midnight.

The escorts for the queen and her attendants are chosen by the football squad from the senior members of the team.

Leading off the first dance of Homecoming was the THS Royalty and their escorts. After the suspenseful moments of crowning, the queen and her attendants relaxed and enjoyed the fun and gaiety of the evening.

Stimulating school spirit and arousing the enthusiasm of the crowd, the cheerleaders are yelling their favorite chant to encourage the players onward to a victory against the Wathena Wildcats.

Now where'd that silly thing go?

Send em to the graveyard, rah! rah!

The Trojan Kayettes met the Highland Kayettes for their Homecoming Game. The team was coached by Mr. Williams with "Lightning" Pitts and "Freddie" Myers as captain and co-captain respectively. The final score was in Troy's favor, 6-0.

During the half the Homecoming King, Duane Yingling, was crowned. He was escorted by Marcia Carlson. His attendants were, Mike Frenken, Bill Penny, Dennis Ruhnke, and Jerald Holcomb.

You're looking good, man!

Go Get 'em gals!

Careful now!

*Anita Ross
Crowned Queen of Courts, '66*

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Queen Anita, escorted by Richard Burbridge. Princess Linda was escorted by Melvin Owens, and Princess Lois was escorted by Jerald Holcomb.

Sponsored by the Pep Club, the Royal Dance was held in the school auditorium, with Queen Anita leading the first dance. The music was provided by a juke box.

The expression shown on Vicki Davies' face, below, illustrates the feeling of the crowd during the half-time coronation.

Which Is the Way to Boston

A drama in One - Act by Ronald Lorenzen

On a cold, rainy night in a rural New England farmhouse, members of the Harvey family become a part of a major legend that had haunted their area for many years. While their daughter was away undergoing a major operation, John and Martha Harvey welcomed a visit by John's nephew, Chris, and his wife. One evening John, portrayed by Owen Gaul, told Chris, played by Duane Yingling, about an old legend. The legend concerned an old man and his vigilant search for the way to Boston. The people of that area said that many years before the old man had lived in their community with his grandchild, a little girl. The old man was said to have kept to himself and had been unfriendly to those who approached him. One particular night, however, the little girl became very ill and the old man wanted to get her to the hospital in Boston. When he stopped his buggy at people's homes, they refused to tell him the way or misdirected him. The people were not aware of the sick child in the buggy. No one really knew what happened to them after that night. Since that time, though, the legend had been kept alive by reports from people that the old man still continued his search. He would stop at people's doors and ask the way to Boston. And, it was said, that death followed in the home at which he stopped.

Chris and his wife, Mary, played by Anita Ross, didn't believe the superstition until an old man, driving a buggy stopped at the Harvey home one night. After his visit, their first thoughts were of Ann, who, however, was in the hospital. Ann was to recover, but another Harvey died--Martha, portrayed by Ann Freeman--and, thus, added credance to what was said to have been a groundless superstition.

The play was directed by Miss Nellie Russell.

On the evening of November 13, 1965 the F. F. A. queen, Miss Mary Ellen Murphy, was crowned. Her escort for the evening was Owen Gaul, the F. F. A. president. Miss Murphy's attendants were Miss Anita Ross, escorted by David Prawl, and Miss Beverly Ross, escorted by Bill Huss.

The evening continued after the coronation with popular and square dancing. Refreshments of apple cider and doughnuts were served later.

F. F. A. Initiates Seven

The F. F. A. Greenhand initiation brought in seven new members for the Troy chapter of the Future Farmers of America. The initiation included a lot of "fun", but maybe not for those coming into the organization. Nevertheless, they all took it in a good sense of humor, as it was fully intended for them to do. Some of their tasks included eating raw eggs, drive a nail into an oak board, and fish for tools in the grease pit.

The Westbrooks are exceptional vocalists who take time from their busy schedule to share their talent with high school students. They presented a program that was not only entertaining and educational, but aesthetically pleasing as well.

They both are highly skilled in their art and are very versatile performers. Perhaps through them, Troy High School may have gained a better understanding and appreciation of the art of song.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westbrook

Culture Steps In

Marce Reyes

A native of the Philippines spoke to the Social Science classes on the customs and tradition of his islands.

The one-time Olympic winner emphasized both the present and past customs of his people. He also discussed the educational system and politics of the Philippine Islands, including in his talk, the recent presidential election. Mr. Reyes closed by speaking of the future and heritage of his country.

Park Singers Entertain Student Body

The Park Singers made their second appearance at Troy High School in two years, March 19, 1966. They are a lively and congenial entertaining group who serve as public relations representatives from Park College, Parkville, Missouri. Both years they have been a big hit with the student body. The Singers sing everything from Bach to Brubeck.

Their director, Allen Larson, also directs the college choir and teaches the theory of music. He was the guest conductor at the K-36 League Vocal Clinic, November 16, 1965, here at Troy High School.

During the school year, the Singers make appearances at churches, schools, and civic organizations, in the surrounding area. After the completion of the spring semester, the Singers make a week long tour making as many as twenty appearances during that one, short week.

Hurry to the Book Fair!

Students show their enthusiasm for reading when they gather at the Book Fair, sponsored by the Troy High Language Club, and buy 535 paperbacked books.

Martha Zimmerman was the chairman of the Book Fair committee. Books were sold for three days, February 16, 17, 18, and at two evening affairs, in conjunction with the Doniphan County Teachers Association on February 17, and on February 18, when the K-36 one-act play, directed by Miss Russell, was given, and Mrs. Groh and her mixed chorus presented several numbers.

This was the second year for the Book Fair, and with such wonderful enthusiasm, it will probably become an annual event here at Troy.

Fourteen on '66 Paper Staff

A monthly school paper called the Trojan Trumpet is put out by the Troy High School paper staff. The staff got off to a good start by attending a journalism clinic at Kansas University in the fall of 1965.

Mrs. Warren is the sponsor of the group, which puts out the paper that the entire student body receives, free of charge. The Trumpet features stories of dances and games, the news from the clubs, organizations, and classes, and also an editorial page.

The paper staff tries to present a true picture of the events of THS for the students, faculty, and parents. Copies are given to each student. All the work done on the paper is extracurricular. Students who participate, find working on the paper staff is helpful in their English, as it improves their spelling and their composition.

Paper staff includes: Nancy Blake, Martha Zimmerman, editor; Janette Kanning, Mrs. Warren, sponsor; LaMonte Schoenfelder, Mary Freel, Ellen Reeder, Virginia Foley, Richard Burkhart, Larry Harness, Cheryl Myers, Annie Freeman, Mary Reeder, Ina Lou Shupe, and Nancy Juhl.

Even though our season was below average, the spirit of the Trojans remained in good standing. Our record of 9 losses and 0 wins didn't dampen the spirit of the student body.

The starting line-up, shown at the left, was slightly improved from last year's team. This shows a typical half-time scene, with the coach giving the "roundballers" some last minute instructions.

The '66 A-team won only three games this year, but the crowd's enthusiasm at all of the games was enough to rouse their spirits for many very close and exciting ones.
